

START ON ANTI-TRUST CRUSADE

PRESIDENT HAS PRELIMINARY CONFERENCE WITH SENATOR NEWLANDS.

TO BE READY IN DECEMBER

Plans Will Be Made Following Conference With Attorney General and Others.

Washington, Oct. 6.—A start was made by President Wilson today on his anti-trust program for the December session of congress. He had a long preliminary conference with Senator Newlands of Nevada, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, which handles trust legislation in the senate.

The president expects to confer also in the near future with Representative Clayton, chairman of the house judiciary committee, as well as with other members of the two congressional committees which will be directly in charge of the legislation.

Sensor Newlands said after the conference that he expected the president to transmit some recommendations to his committee early in the December session. These probably will materialize after the president consults Attorney General McReynolds and some prominent lawyers outside of the official circuit who have been studying the problem for years.

Today's discussion with Chairman Newlands was of a general character, bringing forth no particular scheme of legislation. The president and the senator examined in detail the history and arguments presented for and against various pending bills which would supplement the Sherman anti-trust act by providing for the prevention of holding companies, stock watering and discrimination in prices, the regulation of the size of business and the definition of the word "reasonable" as used by the supreme court of the United States.

Sensor Newlands himself has a bill pending that would create an interstate trade commission with powers of publicity, investigation and correction and the power of preliminary investigation regarding violations of the Sherman act. The bill would also increase the number of the court in the enforcement of the decrees, the dissolution of trusts and the reestablishing in legal form of their constituent elements.

TRY TO ROB VERNON BANK

Drill Into Wrong Safe and Use Nitroglycerine—Frightened Away by Roar Above.

Vernon, Tex., Oct. 6.—An unsuccessful attempt to rob the First Guaranty State bank vaults here was made this morning. Not knowing that a wall separated the vaults of the bank and those of the Vernon Abstract company, the robbers drilled the doors of the latter company's vaults and wrecked them with nitroglycerine. They were frightened away by Edward Clapp, who sleeps over the bank, and who summoned officers when he heard the explosions of two charges of explosives used on the safe. It is believed the robbers intended to drill through the wall to the bank safe after discovering their first failure. The men escaped. It is believed they were amateurs.

FROM SAN ANTONIO IN BALLOON

St. Louis Man Will Attempt to Break Distance Record.
San Antonio, Oct. 6.—Wm. F. Assman of St. Louis, and his aide, Joe M. O'Reilly, will sail from here some time Wednesday evening in the balloon "Million" Population No. 2 in an effort to break the Latham cup for their distance ballooning from J. Allen Hawley of New York. Mr. Assman and Mr. O'Reilly hope to be carried as far north as Minnesota, if not into Canada. Mr. Assman has been in an effort to lift the Latham cup and landed at Garver, Mo., 751 miles from San Antonio. Mr. Hawley in winning the cup sailed 712 miles, and Mr. Assman and Mr. O'Reilly must better that distance to win the trophy.

"Opposition to Currency Is Ridiculous," Says Wilson

Washington, Oct. 6.—President Wilson will begin conferences tomorrow with democratic senators looking to the acceleration of the administration currency bill's passage through the senate.

The president has been informed that some members of the banking and currency committee plan to continue the hearings two weeks longer and continue a month thereafter in working over the bill. He looks upon this program as likely to throw the currency discussion into the December session of congress and postpone a vote indefinitely and will endeavor to ascertain from members of the committee and democratic senators generally what are the causes of delay. At the white house it was said today that the president would feel justified in using every legitimate means to forward the progress of the bill toward the statute books before the end of the present session.

Significant in the day's developments on the situation were remarks which the president made to callers to the effect that objections to the administration bill proceeded chiefly from big bankers because they feared that the control of the country's financial system would be taken from their hands by the new measure.

SUSPICION FALLS ON STEP-MOTHER

OFFICIALS OF BOSQUE COUNTY CHARGE MRS. ETHERIDGE WITH MURDER.

SHE IS ARRESTED AND JAILED

Woman of the Hills Accused of Poisoning Husband's Three Children, Killing Two.

The strange case of the three children of James C. Etheridge, a farmer of Bosque county, two of whom died after eating a hearty dinner at home last Thursday while the third was made seriously ill, took a sensational turn at a late hour Sunday, when Mrs. Etheridge, the stepmother of the unfortunate little ones, was arrested and lodged in the county jail at Meridian, on the charge of murder.

The arrest of the stepmother was made by Sheriff W. H. W. Randall, who drove out to the Etheridge home, eighteen miles from the county seat, accompanied by County Attorney J. E. Dillard and J. Frank McDonald, the county health officer.

Spencer's Gruesome Quest

The victims of the mysterious case are believed to have been poisoned, the father and stepmother coinciding in this theory with the county authorities and the physicians who investigated the case. The character of the poison that killed the two boys, one 5 years old, the other 3, and almost ended the life of the seven-year-old girl, will not be positively known until the analytical chemist who has been employed by the county to make a chemical analysis of the stomachs and livers of the dead children completes his scientific quest. The vicera have been in the chemist's keeping since Friday night.

Although yesterday Prof. Samuel H. Spencer was in the laboratory of the science building at Baylor university applying the tests that will determine whether the two boys were poisoned and the nature of the poison that caused their deaths, Prof. Spencer said he will probably be able to make a report by tomorrow night.

Sheriff Randall Talks

Sheriff Randall of Bosque, discussing the case with a reporter for the Morning News yesterday, said that the arrest of Mrs. Etheridge had been decided upon after a conference between the county attorney, the health officers of the county and himself. The sheriff said that when he searched a home of the Etheridges he found a small package containing a whitish powder in a trunk in Mrs. Etheridge's room. This package he confiscated. Mrs. Etheridge was totally at a loss to explain the presence of poison in the house, and she was much mystified as to the officers.

Poison, Says Chemist

The package of whitish powder was turned over to Dr. McDonald, the health officer, who brought it, with the organs taken from the dead bodies, to the Baylor laboratory. It required but a short time for Prof. Spencer to ascertain that the powder contained arsenic in large quantity. Following the report of the chemist, Sheriff Randall and Health Officer McDonald held another conference. As a result of this conference came the arrest of the stepmother of the Etheridge children.

Protests Her Innocence

Mrs. Etheridge will be given a preliminary hearing before a county magistrate probably today. She denies emphatically that she had any knowledge of the presence of poison in the house, but agrees with the doctors and the county authorities that the symptoms exhibited by the three children indicated that they were poisoned. She told the sheriff and other officers that she was completely at a loss to understand how the little ones could have got hold of the deadly powder, or any other form of poison. She stated that the only powder she had placed in the trunk was a package of medicinal salts.

Now the Little Ones Died

The first of the three children to show distress after eating dinner was the five-year-old boy. He complained of pains and nausea about half an hour after the family had left the dinner table, the nine-year-old boy and the seven-year-old girl were affected in identical the same way within a quarter of an hour after the first child died.

Herman Oelrichs, Jr., Young Society Millionaire, Arrested on Charge of Stabbing a Girl in Auto

Young Hermann Oelrichs, Jr., a sophomore at Columbia university, whose family has been very prominent in New York society for some fifteen years, was charged by Miss Lucile Singleton, a pretty girl of Dallas, known to many students of the school, with having stabbed her during an automobile ride, when the machine was wrecked.

Young Oelrichs is a grandson of old "Jim" Fair, one of the Bonanza kings of Nevada. John W. Mackay, whose son recently took his children away from his wife, James Flood, whose descendants own a lot of San Francisco, and O'Brien were the others. The Mackay and Fair families have succeeded in getting into New York society. The Floods and O'Briens have not.

The young man's mother was Teresa Fair, eldest daughter of the Bonanza king, who when she died left about $12,000,000. His aunt was Virginia Fair, who several years ago married William K. Vanderbilt Jr. That young man is believed to have about $45,000,000.

Miss Singleton afterward retracted her statements, which she made while in a nervous condition following the accident.

WORRY OVER DEFICIENCY BILL TALK HOUSTON-DALLAS ROAD

Administration Leaders Urge Senators to Be in Seats—Fear No Quorum.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Administration leaders in the house, anxious over the urgent deficiency bill which will come over from the senate tomorrow, are sending out appeals to absent members to return to Washington and stay until the bill is amended can be sent to conference and a conference report approved. The amendment in the senate abolishing the commerce court, but retaining the judges thereof on the circuit bench, is expected to cause considerable discussion and republicans are preparing again to attack the provision removing deputy United States marshals and deputy internal revenue collectors from the civil service.

The fact that there is not a quorum in Washington is causing the democratic leaders considerable concern, for opponents of the measure might tie it up and greatly embarrass government departments that are in need of funds, particularly the department of labor.

WATERS ARE NOW RECEDING

News From Coast Country Shows the Prospects for Normal Conditions Soon Are Good.

Houston, Oct. 6.—News from the coast country and Southwest Texas this morning is of receding waters and fine prospects for the early resumption of normal conditions. Railway service continues impaired, especially to the eastward and several days will elapse before old schedules can be made. The sun is shining at many points and every indication is that the unprecedented rainy spell is over for the time at least. Receding waters show the crop damage in many sections less severe than had been feared. Inundated cotton, while damaged, held the staple well and little of it was destroyed. It will be several days, however, before picking can be resumed even should no additional rainfall result. It was not until this morning that the Houston Electric company could fully resume car service.

WOMAN CONVICTED.

Found Guilty of Murdering Husband and Daughter.
Harrisonville, Mo., Oct. 6.—Mrs. Ida May Keller, charged with killing her husband and seven-year-old daughter Margaret, was convicted of murder in the first degree by a jury here late tonight and her punishment was fixed at life imprisonment.

CHAIRMAN GLASS SCORES HIT CHCOCK

CRITICIZES NEBRASKAN'S NEWS-PAPER CRUSADE AGAINST CURRENCY.

QUESTIONS "WILD INFLATION"

Says Senator in Accord With Signers of Those Who Signed Aldrich Scheme.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Representative Carter Glass, chairman of the house committee on banking and currency, issued a statement tonight criticizing the opposition to the pending currency bill of Senator Hitchcock, a democratic member of the senate committee on banking and currency. He said he was "quite curious to know" to what provisions of the measure the Nebraska senator was to attach the "several hundred amendments" of which he speaks in his rather persistent newspaper crusades against the bill.

Thus far, Mr. Glass declared, Senator Hitchcock ventures to specify but four objections to the bill as it passed the house in asking for more time in which to consider the subject. Asserting that the senate committee had possession of the currency bill before the committee suggested it, even if it would not be exactly fair to the public to assume, merely because Mr. Hitchcock is prepared to act, for those who have the matter in charge have more time and better opportunities to study the subject and give it definite form and substance.

Concerning some of Senator Hitchcock's objections to the bill, Representative Glass said in part:

Concerning Hitchcock's Objections.
The assertion that the bill as it passed the house would "frustrate" contract commercial credits, even temporarily, is a figment of the imagination. It has not one particle of basis, and no capable actuary with any regard for his intellectual integrity would reach any such conclusion. "As to the talk of an ultimate period of 'wild inflation,' it is curious to note that Senator Hitchcock in his plea for delay finds himself in exact accord with the two republican members of his committee who attacked the reserve bill, the Aldrich scheme, which provided for a possible inflation of the currency to the extent of six thousand million dollars.

"The intimation of the distinguished Nebraska senator that he intends to amend the currency bill by compelling regional reserve banks to discount the obligations of member banks, thus stripping the regional banks of their discretion, as I interpret his suggestion, will interest both the scientific and the practical banker as being a unique idea. One of the most eloquent criticisms that the house bill encountered during the entire process of consideration related to the power of reserve board to require 'in time of emergency' and under severe restrictions one regional reserve bank to rediscount the prime paper of another regional reserve bank of which there are to be only twelve.

"Yet now, as I understand, we have from Mr. Hitchcock a serious proposal to open the throttle wide and, in the ordinary course of business transactions, compel regional banks and, criminally to rediscount paper and to issue currency and candidates to, perhaps, 10,000 member banks.

Powers Carefully Planned.
"No feature of the currency bill receives greater attention or more serious consideration and none was more exhaustively discussed than the provision having to do with the powers of the federal reserve board. These powers do not comprehend, except vaguely, the routine functions of banking. There is but one of them which has not been exercised, fully or approximately, for fifty years by the secretary of the treasury or the comptroller of the currency."

The statement charged that some of the witnesses who appeared before the senate committee were prompted by bankers as to what they were to say and cited the instance of a "great merchant of the country" who had been told to come to Washington "to give seeds of discontent with the house bill by declaring to the senate committee as Mr. Hitchcock has said to the contrary, that it 'involved a tremendous contraction of commercial credits.'"

This testimony, Mr. Glass said, was absurd and he added that the merchant who gave it afterwards admitted that he was "coached" and that he had not even read the bill.

Representative Glass concluded with a statement that he had hesitated to make any criticism of committee proceedings on the senate side and that he would not have spoken at all had the senator from Nebraska confined his observations to his committee room.

COAST INDUSTRIAL CONGRESS

Opens Today at Freeport—"Marketing" Is Chief Feature for Discussion.

Freeport, Oct. 6.—Indications are for a large attendance at the opening tomorrow for the annual fall convention of the Mid-Coast Industrial Congress, which will be in session two days.

"Marketing" is the chief feature for discussion this year and it is probable during the meeting that a movement will be launched to increase the efficiency of marketing methods in the mid-coast country. President Hardy has secured some able speakers to discuss his subject.

Tuesday afternoon delegates to the congress will be guests of the Freeport Commerce League on a water trip down the Brazos river to the jetties, the ship channel and other harbor works. Wednesday evening the delegates will be entertained with a smok-

ROADS PROTEST MEN'S DEMAND

SAY INCREASE ASKED WOULD TOTAL $17,975,688, OR 21 PER CENT.

TRAINMEN CLAIM MORE RISKS

Say "Double Heading" Hazardous—H. H. Smith Says Is Penalizing for Speed.

New York, Oct. 6.—It will cost the eastern railroads nearly $18,000,000 more a year to operate if they are compelled to grant the wage demands of their 80,000 trainmen and conductors, it was testified on behalf of the roads today before the federal arbitration board. The increase asked for represents an increase of 21 per cent over the total wages now paid, according to John G. Walber, a vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio.

"Taking into consideration all the agencies working in favor of the trainmen in these requests should they be granted the increase would approximately cost the railroads $17,975,688 more a year than at present," said the witness.

Double heading, which means drawing a train with two locomotives, a practice which the men in presenting their case held to be an important factor in increasing the hazards of railroads was introduced by counsel for the railroads today. "The trainmen want to penalize the railroads for railroad risks and speed," commented A. H. Smith, senior vice president of the New York Central lines.

Both Low, chairman of the board asked A. B. Garretson, representing the trainmen, whether the men would rather have double heading or salary increases. Lucius Sheppard, one of the arbitrators selected by the roads, said: "All disputes between trainmen and the railroads heretofore have found double heading a matter of contention. The railroads let it be known that the trainmen's objection to double heading was a measure dictating the operating methods of the roads. For this reason the trainmen are making first a plea for more money giving the continuance of the practice of double heading as a reason for demanding more money."

LURED TO HER DEATH

MISS LEEGSON, ART STUDENT, ASKED BY UNKNOWN MAN TO ACT AS NURSE.

Silken Cord Shows Was Strangled. Purse Was Rifled—Body Nude.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Miss Ida G. Leegson, art student, whose nude body was found on the prairie west of here yesterday, was lured to her death by some man who telephoned to her in response to her advertisement for a place as a nurse. This was the conclusion of the police tonight after more than twenty-four hours' search which resulted, the police admit, in no trail that can direct them to the murderer.

The thin silken fish line found near the body and the bruised circle left around Miss Leegson's neck showed them the manner of her death. Her tattered clothes, strewn for half a mile along the road approaching the prairie, and the bruises on the body indicated that death came only after she had made a hard struggle, but there was nothing found to show by whom Miss Leegson had been induced to visit the lonely spot on the western outskirts of the city.

Earns Money to Study.
After giving up her position as a school teacher in Mason City, Iowa, September 29, Miss Leegson came to Chicago and engaged a room with Mrs. James P. Burnett, saying she was going to try to earn more money to continue her art studies. Saturday she inserted an advertisement in a paper asking for a place as a trained nurse.

Saturday afternoon a telephone call came from a "Mr. Wilson," who, when told Miss Leegson was out, inquired closely after her personal appearance. An hour later he called.

Nome, Alaska, Is Almost Destroyed By a Typhoon

Nome, Alaska, Oct. 6.—Fire has broken out in the storm stricken city of Nome and the flames have attacked the Pacific cold storage plant, where is stored the chief supply of meat for the winter. The fire apparatus was destroyed in the gale.

Town Storm Swept.
Nome, Alaska, Oct. 6.—Nome has been almost destroyed by a storm. All the south side of Front street is gone. The sandspit is gone. Two miles of territory next to the sea was devastated. No lives were lost.

The storm that last night began beating in from Bering Sea was the worst ever known here. Men and women worked all night in the icy water to save their household effects. The electric light plant was wrecked and telephone service cut off. The loss is estimated at $1,500,000. There will be much suffering and outside help will be required. Winter is at hand and it will be impossible to meet supplies needed. The steamships Victoria and Corwin, which were lying in the roads, ran to the sea and escaped damage.

All the small boats on the beach were destroyed. Five hundred houses have been demolished and more are falling.

Nome, the famous gold camp, in Behring sea, the most northerly city in the world, was built on a sandy beach. In front of the town there is anchorage for ships but steamers do not make a landing. Cargoes and passengers are landed at an aerial tramway station in deep water. The principal part of the town, which a dozen years ago had a population of 20,000, is on the east side of Snake river with a finger extending to the west along a narrow sand spit. The sand spit was rich in gold dust and the early settlers built their cabins there. Of late years, the sands have been worked out and little except dredging operations, which require large capital, is being done. It has been estimated that the dredges have enough ground in sight to operate fifty years more. Nome has produced more than $25,000,000 in gold dust. Some years the yield has been as high as $5,000,000. This year the production will not exceed $4,000,000 owing to lack of water.

"WITHIN FIFTEEN DAYS FROM THE DATE HEREOF I PROMISE TO deliver complete abstract of title showing good title in me for the land hereinabove described," did you contract to purchase real estate over certain words similar to the above? If so, what did they mean? Conceding that they meant a merchantable title, we will ask what is a merchantable title, and isn't it a fact that what one attorney would find to be a merchantable title another would object to—it's the difference of opinions that makes lawsuits.

Doesn't it behoove you to demand a title which is acceptable by everyone, a title which you can deliver to your purchaser just like you were swapping horses, deliver the title guarantee policy, which is an absolute guarantee that the title is good; not that we are always right, but when we say the title is good, that word is supported by the assets of the largest Texas company writing Title Guaranty Insurance.

again and asked her to go to a point on the west side to care for his wife. She left to answer the call and was to meet me at 6 o'clock. She met me. "She had a suit case with her and we talked a little while in the depot waiting for the 6:20 train. We talked about love affairs and marriage. I was talking to her about getting married. I told her I had a farm and that my father left me pretty well to do. There was nothing said about the diamonds. I saw the ring on her finger. She said this is what Rexroat gave me because I couldn't get any money out of him." I said it was pretty nice.

"When we got off the car at Wayne we waited until the others passed by and then walked down the track. I told her we were going along the track because that was the entrance to the farm. We walked along until we got to the other side of the bridge, about 100 feet from the second telegraph pole. Then I turned around and pulled the gun out and when I was alongside of her I shot her. It went through her mouth and out through the back of her ear. I shot her once. We had not quarreled, only she was trying to work me, as she had Rexroat. She just fell over the track, where she was run over. I took the diamond ring and the suit case and walked back the same way to the depot."

On the way back to Chicago Spencer said he opened the suit case and

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

LOOK YOUNG! BRING BACK ITS NATURAL COLOR, GLOSS AND THICKNESS.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scratchy and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur Remedy at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

WHEN TEXAS WAS "WILD AND WOOLY" ASSEMBLY TAKES PARTING SHOTS

Engineer Clarke at Throttle—At Last
Train Hit Ditch and Vitalitas Plays Part.

Forty years is a long time to pull a throttle in an engine cab, but it is the record of the Katy has made. His home and headquarters are Smithville. He took charge of an engine when Texas was "wild and wooly" and there are few engineers with a better record than his.

His most serious wreck was two years ago and in it the veteran throttle man received hurts to his back and hip. From these he recovered with the exception of rheumatism set in and at times caused him great suffering.

Some of the boys told me about Vitalitas, he said, "that it would knock the rheumatism and other things. I tested it. It not only cured my rheumatism, but made me feel almost a boy again. Two bottles cured me and I am glad to recommend it." The wreck occurred frequently to it of railroad life leads frequently to rheumatism, nervous debility, stomach disorders and other ills. Vitalitas is bringing new health and energy to railmen everywhere in Texas, as well as to people in other walks of life. It comes out of the earth and is a most wonderful blend of nature's forces and properties. It is a specific for all derangements of the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood. It is guaranteed. Investigate it today. You can sample Vitalitas today and see how it is extracted at the Powers-Kelly Drug Co.

OFFICERS OF INTERURBAN HERE

Several Make Trip Over Impaired
Roadbed After Funeral of Mr. Griffin.

For the first time since the memorable celebration of "Stockholders' Day," September 30, a party of officials and employees of the Waco-Dallas interurban traversed the line from Dallas to Waco yesterday. The principal officers, including President Strickland, traveled no farther than Waxahachie toward Waco.

The special arrived here last night shortly after 10 o'clock, having on board Messrs. Denn, Jensen, Martin and Campbell, who went to the State House after a brief stop at the offices of the Southern Traction company, and retired for the night. They will leave for Dallas at an early hour this morning.

On a Sad Mission.
President Strickland and other officials of the Southern Traction company went to Waxahachie for the purpose of attending the funeral of the father of General Passenger Agent James P. Griffin, which took place yesterday, and with the intention of making an inspection of the roadbed and tracks of the line, it was stated yesterday afternoon at the local offices of the company.

The trip over the roadbed affected by the recent heavy rains was decided upon at Waxahachie by the party that came to Waco. Because of the softened condition of the roadbed and other physical difficulties that have delayed the opening of the road to passenger traffic the journey to Waco was made at very slow speed. The defective conditions were known to the party, reports having been made by inspectors who had gone over the route in the last week, but some desired information was obtained as a result of the trip.

The opening of the road, according to notices issued since Stockholders' Day, is fixed for October 15, but under unfavorable weather conditions may necessitate a further postponement of the event.

True Friends.
A large crowd had gathered at the station to receive the famous statesman. The reporter indicated a group in the foreground. "There are personal friends, gathered to see him about speaking here," he explained.

"Is it necessary to use persuasion to induce him to speak?"
"Not at all; they are going to try to prevent him," Judge.

Edward P. Meany, attorney for the New York Telephone company, testified he had loaned the governor $10,000 in cash within a week or ten days after his nomination. Meany said he had made the contribution in cash because he did not wish it to be known, for fear the gift might be "misconstrued."

He added that the governor had promised to pay it back to him when in court. A letter which the governor had written to him in connection with the gift and not allowed in evidence, was reported to have been a recommendation by the governor to President Wilson that Meany be appointed to an ambassadorship.

In closing, the attorney questioned the motives of the persons who brought the charges, intimating that the whole proceeding was the result of efforts of disgruntled politicians to punish an enemy.

"Was he impeached as they say," the attorney concluded, "for stealing the money which his friends gave him, or was it because he was preventing grafters from stealing the money of the taxpayers? Was he impeached because, as they say, he made false oath, or was it because he refused to violate his official oath of office?"

No testimony was taken by the defense today.

Louis A. Sarecky will be called tomorrow as their first witness.

fell sick. The two fatally affected lived about four hours after leaving the dinner table.

The Girl Survives.
When Dr. Thomas Comton, a practitioner in the county, arrived at the Etheridge home, he responded to the call of the father and stepmother of the children the two boys were past medical aid. He administered emetics and applied other remedies commonly used by physicians to counteract the effects of deadly persons when into the system, but the two boys were soon in their death throes. He succeeded in saving the life of the little girl and she is now on the road to complete recovery.

It is possible that Mrs. Etheridge will not be brought into the justice court at Meridian until the report of Prof. Spencer on the result of his chemical analysis is received by the county authorities.

BEFORE DEFENSE TAKES CASE, BRING FURTHER EVIDENCE AGAINST SULZER.

CLAIM HE ASKED ROOT'S AD

Son of Millionaire Ryan Claims Tried to Get Republicans to Prevent Trial.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Governor Wm. Sulzer obtained the influence of U. S. Senator Elmer Root and of Wm. James, chairman of the republican state committee, to prevent the trial of his impeachment, according to testimony adduced at the trial today, although subsequently stricken out by vote of the court.

Allan A. Ryan, son of Thomas Ryan, a New York financier, gave the testimony. It also was brought out through the testimony of Ignatius V. McGilone, secretary of the elder Ryan, that Gov. Sulzer was the recipient of $10,000 cash campaign contribution from the governor's sworn statement.

"Tell your father I am the same old Bill," young Mr. Ryan said the governor said to him over the telephone in asking for the contribution.

Mr. Ryan was called to the stand today after the attorneys for the impeachment managers had obtained permission to reopen their case, which they announced as complete when court adjourned last Thursday. The witness said that just a week before the trial of impeachment began he had seen Governor Sulzer in the latter's office in New York.

"He asked me," testified the financier's son, "to go to Washington and see Senator Root and request him to see Mr. Barnes, get him to endeavor to have the republican members of this body vote that this court had no right to try him and impeach him."

Compares Sulzer to Paul.
The testimony preceded the opening of the case for the defense late in the afternoon by Harvey D. Hinman, who compared Governor Sulzer to the apostle Paul, whose former friends, the attorney said, "did not attempt to impeach him or his epistles because of what he had done while acting with them and while one of them."

"Where in the nineteenth century has voice been raised to condemn Paul or his epistles for his acts as Paul?" he asked Mr. Hinman. The question, he added, "was whether Governor Sulzer was impeached for corrupt conduct in office or because of what he has refused to do since he took office."

It was in the face of repeated objections by counsel for the defense, who several times halted him as he was about to answer, that Mr. Ryan was permitted to tell of his conversations with the governor. Judge Cullen withheld final ruling on his objections. As soon as the testimony fell from his lips counsel for Governor Sulzer held a hurried conference and Attorney D. Cady Herrick demanded that the testimony be stricken out on the ground that it was incompetent. The whole court room was soon abuzz with conversation and it was evident that the words of the witness had caused a sensation.

Testimony Stricken Out.
The testimony is stricken out," said Presiding Judge Cullen.

Senator Elmer Root, republican leader in the senate, demanded a vote on the ruling of the presiding judge. The judge was sustained by a vote of 52 to 15.

John B. Stanchfield, attorney for the impeachment managers attempted to obtain from Mr. Ryan testimony as to another conversation he had with the governor, but was not permitted to pursue this line of questioning further. Mr. Ryan, after court adjourned, said to newspaper men:

"I am unwilling to make any other statement than I made as a witness except I did not see or communicate with Senator Root on the subject."

Mr. Ryan's testimony was not the only remark that was fired by the impeachment managers before the defense opened.

Edward P. Meany, attorney for the New York Telephone company, testified he had loaned the governor $10,000 in cash within a week or ten days after his nomination. Meany said he had made the contribution in cash because he did not wish it to be known, for fear the gift might be "misconstrued."

He added that the governor had promised to pay it back to him when in court. A letter which the governor had written to him in connection with the gift and not allowed in evidence, was reported to have been a recommendation by the governor to President Wilson that Meany be appointed to an ambassadorship.

In closing, the attorney questioned the motives of the persons who brought the charges, intimating that the whole proceeding was the result of efforts of disgruntled politicians to punish an enemy.

"Was he impeached as they say," the attorney concluded, "for stealing the money which his friends gave him, or was it because he was preventing grafters from stealing the money of the taxpayers? Was he impeached because, as they say, he made false oath, or was it because he refused to violate his official oath of office?"

No testimony was taken by the defense today.

Louis A. Sarecky will be called tomorrow as their first witness.

FOR BETTER ROADS AROUND HILLSBORO

PRECINCT NO. 1 LAUNCHES A MOVEMENT TO ISSUE $250,000 BONDS.

MOVEMENT STRONGLY FAVORED

Farmers and People of City Stand Behind Action—Will Give 50 Miles of Roads.

Hillsboro, Tex., Oct. 6.—Under the special Hill county road law, Justice Precinct No. 1, which includes the territory adjacent to Hillsboro, has launched a movement for issuing $250,000 of bonds, which, it is estimated, will build eighty miles of roads. This action was taken at a meeting attended by three-fourths farmers and the remainder Hillsboro people, and petitions are now being circulated.

This resolution, offered by O. G. Bowman, active vice president of the Citizens' National bank, and seconded by J. A. Bobbitt and C. F. Graham, was unanimously endorsed:

"Resolved, That we petition the commissioners' court to make Justice Precinct No. 1 a special road district and that $250,000 of forty-year, 5 per cent bonds be authorized in the election to be called in the present road tax in this district is 15c, 2c of which must continue to go for outstanding bonds. This would leave 13c to go into the roads from this fund and an additional 15c from the special fund, making 28c, or the limit allowed by law.

That to secure any less sum would be merely to court waste of money in endeavoring to cover the district with half-made roads, appeared the consensus of opinion at the meeting, and the general determination to get really good roads while at it was made plain. The following property valuations were presented at the meeting:

City property $3,811,508, outside city $2,580,000, non-residents $500,000, railroads $950,000.

The tax was computed on $7,860,000 property valuations.

This permits a total of 21c to be expended on the interest and sinking fund of the bonds and 7c for a maintenance fund.

It was shown that with eighty miles of good roads in the precinct, the roads would be taken to within one to one and one-half miles of any man's house in the county.

The committee appointed to select the eight men who are to be voted upon as a special board to work in conjunction with the county commissioners was named as follows: From the county, R. F. Read, J. B. Tarpley, J. L. Beavers, W. O. Hayes; from Hillsboro, M. W. Lovell, G. L. White, O. D. Greenhill and George Beavers. Considerable discussion resulted as to the materials to be used, and an investigation is to be made of this matter prior to the calling of the election. The committee will meet this afternoon, and then will select the eight men to be members of the special board. Every move it is declared, is being made so that the people will know exactly what and who they are voting for when they cast their ballots in the election.

Every speaker at the meeting was in favor of good roads by bond issue. Among them being J. H. Bobbitt, P. Webb, R. L. Utley, J. B. Tarpley, B. F. Read, O. B. Greenhill, John O. Turner, Geo. Beavers, G. L. White, J. M. Ivey, N. F. Finch, O. G. Bowman, Charles F. Graham.

Those present at the meeting declared that they did not believe there would be any difficulty in securing the bond issue, in view of the fact that practically all of the farmers in this section of the county are in favor of taking progressive steps along this line at once, while the Hillsboro people will give them hearty support. The benefits of good roads, it was declared, would be made apparent to the entire county, if the eighty miles desired in this precinct can be secured.

Julian Eltinge.
No actor on the American stage today is better liked or has a larger following than Julian Eltinge, the star of "The Fascinating Widow," who has attained enviable position through his masterful and artistic portrayals of beautiful women. In "The Fascinating Widow," Eltinge's art is put to the severest possible test by being surrounded by the most beautiful girls of the stage. Manager A. H. Woods could secure to make up his chorus. Yet, as Mrs. Monte, Eltinge's personality and make up is so exceptionally clever that he easily dominates every scene while on the stage.

Star and play will appear at the Auditorium Thursday night.

The Girl Survives.
When Dr. Thomas Comton, a practitioner in the county, arrived at the Etheridge home, he responded to the call of the father and stepmother of the children the two boys were past medical aid. He administered emetics and applied other remedies commonly used by physicians to counteract the effects of deadly persons when into the system, but the two boys were soon in their death throes. He succeeded in saving the life of the little girl and she is now on the road to complete recovery.

It is possible that Mrs. Etheridge will not be brought into the justice court at Meridian until the report of Prof. Spencer on the result of his chemical analysis is received by the county authorities.

MAL ODOROUS

The Creator, in making man, gave him the different senses, such as sight, smell, hearing, touch and taste, so that he could avoid eating and drinking things that would be hurtful to his physical being.

There are no evil smelling odors at our soda fountain. There is nothing that can offend the sight, and there is a vast difference in the taste of the articles we serve, because they are just simply better than anything served at any soda fountain anywhere, and the reason is we use Artesian water exclusively. That we sterilize everything connected with our soda fountain daily, and after each usage. Everything is kept up to a high standard, so far as appearance goes.

THE W. C. T. U. TO MEET AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Mrs. C. D. Lueck, as president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union requests a full attendance at the meeting this afternoon. The principal new work is to discuss the union's part for parade on Woman's Day at the Cotton Palace.

SAINT PAUL'S AUXILIARY TO MEET ON FRIDAY

Owing to several absences and unfavorable weather conditions Miss Ada Rother as president of Saint Paul's Auxiliary postponed the first meeting for the new year from Friday, Friday as announced. This will be held with the coming Friday.

A SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT FROM MRS. F. J. LENNOX

As chairman of the Woman's Day parade Mrs. F. J. Lennox announces that the women are expected to decorate all kinds of vehicles, automobiles, floats, children's carts, phaetons, carriages, anything which can be made sufficiently attractive to attract attention in the parade. The women who have charge insist that everything entered be creditable and artistically as well as appropriately decorated, it matters not what form.

THE TEXTILE COMMITTEE MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT

As chairman of the textile committee for the Cotton Palace, Mrs. J. S. Hill reports a great deal of interest, especially in the children's department. Inquiry has come from even the extreme western portion of Texas. Mrs. Hill has placed for free distribution Cotton Palace catalogues at the J. R. Hill store, Austin, avenue, and requests all who are interested in making an entry or in the premiums to be given to secure a catalogue. The textile committee will later announce time and place for listing entries. Secure cases will be there and checks given for all articles received.

NUMBER TWO SOCIETY IS FULL OF ACTIVITY

At the last fully meeting of the Number Two Society, it was decided to take formal recognition of the completion of five years as pastor of the church from Dr. F. C. McConnell, Mrs. McConnell is included, and on the last Thursday of October a reception will be held in the parlors of the church for the congregation and personal friends of Dr. and Mrs. McConnell.

Delegates are appointed to attend the association at West on Wednesday. In addition to those who attend officially, it is expected that a number of the Number Twos will go out. One of the members, Miss Pyrene Allen, is supervisor of the association. The elected delegates are Miss Teny Seale with the Mesdames E. C. McConnell, E. M. Dotson, M. G. Haughton, A. J. Barton, O. L. Hargrove, Stanford, M. C. Freeman.

MRS. J. W. RAGSDALE AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

Following her marriage a few months ago by Mrs. J. W. Ragdale went at once to make her home at Valley View farm. Since this she has not mingled so freely with her friends as in her girlhood days. Yet the old friendship remains, also the recognition of favors before and since marriage. It was this, prompted by the desire to meet all the calling list which gave the invitations of Mrs. Ragdale for the Country Club during the week of Saturday afternoon. Arrangements were already made, a house party bespoken, and young girls to assist with the serving. It remained but for the gathering of near the hundred who had been invited. But the friends came not. Why? By no means because they could not, but truly because they could not. The downpour just upon the moment of Mrs. Ragdale taking station as hostess, prevented some few were brave enough to defy the conditions, and meet their hostess. Others lost no time in expressing their disappointment in not being able to do the same. All appreciated having been included among the expected ones.

MRS. LUKE MOORE, JUNIOR, HAS CARDS FOR MISS WEBB

The downpour and consequent commotion in getting to their destination robbed the card courtesy of Mrs. Luke Moore of its grace. The cards of all formality. Hence the hour was converted into one of real hospitality. Some guests arrived late, some did not arrive at all. But it was all excused. Mrs. Moore had planned prettily. Her cards suggested the cause for the courtesy, and her luncheon plate supplied the cheerfulness for a rainy afternoon. The favors were a set of guest towels for Miss Webb, a leading score trophy in handkerchiefs for the girl Nancy Lucy and a consolation prize in a set of beads for Miss Lillian Westbrook. The Mesdames Webb, Frank Wheeler and Harold Shear were the only matron guests. Those who among the society girls who had received Mrs. Moore's invitations are the Misses Mozzelle Webb, Minniebeall Webb, Lillian Westbrook, Monette Colgin, Maydee Caulfield, Anne Risher, Cecilia Moore, Frances van Boddie, Enrieue Smith, Marian Duncan, Lucille Hill, Nancy Lucy, Stella Lucy, Marie Anderson, Pauline Foster, Ida Orand, Gertrude Wilson, Beuna Clinton, Dixon Holloway and Harriet Bain.

THE SOMETHING MORE ABOUT TEXAS GUINAN

We did not all know when reading the prominent article in the Sunday Morning News that the "Texas Guinan" who figured in a former Waco girl. Away back more than twenty years ago, there was a business firm known in Waco as Eaton, Guinan & Co. The Eaton family is still identified with this city, but the Guinans moved to California. They left with a little daughter, Minnie, who has since made name and fame. She has served, as we see, her own name, and taken with it that of her adopted state, for Miss Guinan, if we have it right, was not born in Waco. He that as it may, she is now under the limelight in the theatrical world, and many of us read with interest what she had to say in the Morning News of Sunday.

Mrs. W. H. Forrester Talks.
And there is even more. As soon as the article was read, Mrs. W. H. Forrester discovered that this was the little woman for whom her cousin is understudy. That cousin, Mrs. Forrester visited during her recent trip to Chicago. This young cousin, now only nineteen, is one of the three highest paid women with the Schubert company. She is a Mississippian by birth but now lives in Chicago. So we never know where the chord of sympathy runs.

A FASHION PARAGRAPH FROM NEW YORK CITY

It is not good for absent friends to tell us by letter what the women are wearing for the new season styles, and how they are wearing them? No sooner was our extract from the letter of Mrs. Roy Colman printed to give the far west fashion notes, than comes one from a no less keen observer away east in New York City. And another from the world famous Riviera which season is now just beginning.

From New York came "I wish you could see the shops and the freaks on Broadway. I think every moment. 'What are women coming to.' The skirts are slit to the knees and the exposure accordingly. The waists are so low in front that the women suggest an extreme dressed dinner party. The material of the suit comes to the corset line, and from there up is absolutely bare; some, the more modest, we take it, have a layer of thinest gauze. Nothing though is left to one's imagination. It is true that the women of today, in New York City at least are modest in nothing except covering her ears. I am wondering that the women who can afford furs are going to do. The newest waists to wear with the suits are net worn over a silk under-slip."

The notes from the Riviera does not refer to the apparel of the women themselves but of the fashionables who are gone to this great fashionable resort for the winter season. The bath camps are all erected. These are made of shingle houses on the beach and supplied with luxurious chairs. The houses are so paneled that on balmy days the panels disappear and in their place carpet strips are spread along to the beachy shore, long lines of color which lead from the house to the pavilions nearer the water. Tea houses are along shore. Music and dancing are in order. Two belated

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs. R. M. Bain who expects to spend the winter at the Kyle has gone from Little Rock for a visit to her former friends the Misses Lee and Mary Camp, in Richmond, Va.

The message has come of a successful operation for Mrs. Charles Moore at Battle Creek sanitarium. Her sister, Mrs. Charles Badger of Cleveland, is with her.

What about those Cotton Palace penants? We do not see half enough of them flying from the private vehicles. Remember, while we know all about the Cotton Palace, strangers are on our streets every day, who should be reminded to come back when our exposition is open.

Mrs. Minnie Winfrey Harding writes from her new home, Alexandria, La., that she is planning an early October visit to her family and friends in Texas.

Keep in mind all the time that cleanliness must come before beauty. Clean up, back and front, for the Cotton Palace, particularly if you are along the line of the palace gate procession. Practice a little deception, and make our visitors think we keep sponk and span municipal house every day in the year.

Get this idea firmly into your mind, no matter whether you belong to a church, a social or a literary organization—when a hostess opens her home to the body of women, it is your duty to be present, whether or not you are on personal calling terms with the hostess. She is showing hospitality to your club not to you; therefore do not arrogate that it is a personal attention shown you. You remember when you entertain the club.

The society calendar for Wednesday will say unmistakably that the new turn by having that hostess your guest season is in full sway.

Expected as out-of-town guests for the Clarke-Lacy wedding on Wednesday are Mr. and Mrs. John Macreedy of Austin, Mrs. C. A. Whitlock of Laredo and Mrs. Homer Price of Austin. These will be guests of Mrs. N. J. Lacy, Fourteenth and Jefferson, except Mrs. Westbrook, who drives in for the day.

Mrs. S. M. McAshan as president, contemplates getting the Domestic Science members into line for their new season meeting with this week.

The W. H. Forrester household expects a number of Cotton Palace guests. Somehow we have never gotten up half the enthusiasm over our golden rod, the national flower, as we have over the buffalo, our state flower. Of course, the clover comes nearest for it belongs peculiarly to our Texas prairie. But as we revere the Texas flag and also the Stars and the Stripes of our nation, so should we the two flowers. The golden rod was selected because it came nearest to blossoming all over the United States than any other flower. Therefore, it should be more cultivated in Texas. Especially can we afford to give it place with early spring and the other with early autumn.

Did you know hostesses for the incoming season that it is a courtesy you owe your house party to suggest that these have special invitations, for a few friends? This is so when society is tended to its highest pitch. If this done, it is then the duty of the members each to watch for her own friends, greet, take to hostess, and generally introduce. This perhaps is not practiced in Waco, because a hostess cannot have a party have near the same circle of friends. But with so many new comers it is now in order for hostesses to observe this amenity. It may mean a great deal to some woman who feels lonely in her new home.

Madame president, have you appointed that one member whose duty it shall be to keep the record of your club straight in the Morning News calendar? If you have it will save you many many telephone calls during the winter.

Mrs. C. M. Henry, of South Third street, has been invited to read a paper before the state assembly of Dancers of the King.

young women from Genoa were noticed as exponents of life on the seas along the Riviera. These, taking advantage of the warm sunshine, sat in chairs on the water's edge. The blue-ness of the water all the way. Under each chair was a lap rug of Turkish towelling, lavender in color. The women wore stunning gowns of white, filled with needle work of queer designs, some representing human figures, some the fleur de lis, and so on. Their huge girdles were black, so were their "roughish" hats (is not this a good adjective to describe a jaunty hat?) The parasols were umbrella size, for there is no plenty along the Riviera, and the furs were stretched with the same linen as the gowns. If a gentleman made these women a beach call, a rug was spread for him, and he lolled on the pebbles. We like to see such glimpses of advanced fashion, even though it does have to come clear across the water by means of pen and paper.

THE STETSON SHOE

Good Shoe News for Men

Our Men's Shoe Department announces the best and most complete stock that it has ever shown. Has this splendid assortment of up-to-date lasts and leathers been shown to YOU? If not, you'd better come in today—we're so proud of these excellent Fall Models that we want everybody to see them. Only a few mentioned here; come see them all.

The Fall Styles in Stetsons

At $6.00 and $6.50 we show a splendid Russia Calf or Gun Metal Shoe, built over the new English "Plaza" last; low flange heel, medium pointed toe, single or double soles—the real thing in dressy footwear.

At the same prices you also have the choice of the new "Peg-toe" models—built on a last that combines style and comfort. These are made up in Vici, Russia and Gun Metal and have medium heels and first-class oak single soles.

And then there's the famous "Corn-dodger" and the late exclusive "Stetson Toe"—ideal shapes for business men. These come in Black Vici and Kangaroo, lined with kid or heavy canvas, all the way to the toe; double or single soles, low heels. Prices $6.00 and $6.50.

The "Just Wright" $5.00 Shoe

No better $5.00 Shoe was ever made. This line includes all the popular leathers and lasts—name the kind you want; we have it. This Shoe pleases at sight and keeps on pleasing as long as you wear it.

"Our Special" at $3.50 and $4

We sincerely believe that we have gotten together for this season a line of $3.50 and $4.00 Shoes possessing more "snap," style and sterling quality than has ever before been shown in Waco at the price. We have them in Gun Metal, Russia Calf, etc., in both button and lace styles; medium round toes, low heels, double or single soles.

PAVERS READY FOR NEW WORK.

Texas Bitulithic Soon to Commence Operations on Eighteenth Street.

As soon as auxiliary work has been finished on North Eighteenth street, the Texas Bitulithic company will be ready to commence work on that street.

At present the street is in a bad condition, but this is the result of the recent rains. Burt & Lytle had the street repaved, but the rain had been back after another. There are now five interests clamoring for space on North Eighteenth, the sewer builders, the gas people, the water-works people, the folks who are putting in curb and gutter and the street car forces.

It is likely that the street will be closed to traffic from Austin avenue to Jefferson street when the paving commences. The cross streets will be open so that residents of Washington, Columbus, Barnard and Jefferson, west of Eighteenth street, can get through, but those who live north of Jefferson will have to use Columbus street to Sixteenth, and then follow Sixteenth street to Jefferson or Sanger avenue to get across. City Engineer Evans is opposed to closing the street to traffic, but Supt. Lackey, in charge of the paving, says he does not see how he can get the work done without it.

Mrs. Britt Dies in Ozark, Ark.
Miss Rosamond Britt of 611 South Eighth was called to Ozark, Ark., yesterday by the sudden death of her mother. Miss Britt is in the employ of the McLendon Hardware company, having lived in this city about eight months. The death of her mother occurred about 7:30 o'clock Sunday night and Miss Britt left yesterday afternoon. She is expected to return in a few days.

Consumption Takes 350 People Daily in the United States and the deadly germs claim more victims in cities than in rural districts, due no doubt to the increased number of indoor workers in confining quarters and their lack of sunshine.

Tubercular germs always attack when the system is weakened from colds or sickness, overwork, overstrain, confining duties or any drain which has reduced the resistive forces of the body. But nature always provides a corrector and the best physicians emphasize that during changing climate our blood should be kept rich and pure and active by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals, the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion warms the body by enriching the blood—it peculiarly strengthens the lungs and rebuilds the resistive forces of the body to avoid colds and prevent consumption.

If you work indoors, tire easily, feel languid or nervous, Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known; it builds energy and strength and is totally free from alcohol or any stupefying drug—every druggist has it.

Notice to Subscribers.
 Delivery routes in the city of Waco are in the hands of independent carriers, who buy their papers at wholesale prices. Subscription accounts are due them, not the Waco Morning News. They are under heavy bond, not only to give the best delivery service, but to pay for their papers each month. Their remuneration is the difference between the wholesale price and the retail price which they receive from subscribers. This margin of profit is such that they can not afford to extend credit except month by month. They are not required, and are advised against, delivering the paper to anyone who does not pay in accordance with the above subscription terms. These carriers are all earnest, hardworking young men and they will appreciate any courtesy shown them.

The Morning News should be delivered throughout the City of Waco by 6:30 a. m. and subscribers failing to receive the paper at this time will confer a favor by phoning the circulation department, both phones 1132, and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

FOR FIFTEEN-CENT COTTON.

Mr. W. T. Williams, editor of the Savannah (Ga.) Cotton Record, writes in the Progressive Farmer of the certainty of shortage in the coming supply of cotton and advises the farmer need not worry concerning "chances" of obtaining a good price if he holds his product for high market.

This authority cites: "Statistics of the world's consumption demonstrate that the requirements this year will be about 15,000,000 bales. There is practically no surplus carried over from the last season, the existing tables of supplies including a considerable amount of poor unspinnable trash, but which figures as cotton just the same. The mathematical deduction from the last bureau report is a crop of not over 13,500,000 bales, but it would be unsafe to trust to such elusive calculations. The trade at large, however, is disposed to regard with favor an expectation of somewhere around 14,000,000 bales, which, in view of the increased acreage in the West and the large condition gain in the Atlantic States, does not look at all unreasonable. But this involves a deficit for the year of 1,000,000 bales.

"The main point is, the world wants 15,000,000 bales, while we can see only a prospect of 14,000,000. The farmer need not be in any hurry to sell his cotton. He should sell a little as he needs the proceeds, but he need not be worried over the fear that unless he makes all haste to catch the good prices now obtainable he will have lost his chance. The consuming world has not yet had time to become fully appreciative of the shortage in the coming supply. There is no occasion for the apprehension that the best has been passed every time the market eases off a trifle. The rule to avoid selling while distressed cotton is going on the market is a good one to follow, but the stimulation of prices by a widespread holding campaign has not heretofore been successful. In the present season, however, the prospect shown above exists, with indications that the world's supply of American cotton will not be equal to meet the expected consumption in the coming year."

So Do We.

I regard government ownership of railroads as inevitable.—Pres. E. P. Ripley of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe lines.

Not only as inevitable, but as demanded by the federal constitution. Who, regarding the wreck record of the N. Y. N. H. & H. railroad, for example, would hesitate to conclude that the government really ought to live up to its promise to "provide for the common defense?"

THE MEDICO'S "END" OF FRIEDMANN.

"At the recent meeting of the Rhode Island Medical Society, Dr. Barnes of the Rhode Island State Sanatorium for Tuberculosis presented a report on his results with the Friedmann vaccine. It merely adds to the mass of information that goes to make up the literature concerning Friedmann's attempt at exploiting the consumptive, all of which shows the Friedmann treatment to have no advantage over other methods of treating tuberculosis; more, in all probability, it is a dangerous one. The medical profession has, until recently, maintained toward this product an attitude of reasonable scientific skepticism," says The Journal of the American Medical Association in a recent editorial. In view of the fact, however, that it seems impossible to find a single reliable favorable report, the time has come for an end to the hope that in the Friedmann vaccine we have a cure for tuberculosis.

Moreover, announces this Journal, since the methods of exploitation have become so obviously commercial, with what seems to be an utter disregard for the humanitarian viewpoint, the time surely has come for not only a definite stand against the sale of this product but for positive opposition to the methods used by those financially interested in its promotion. Friedmann secured the financial results which widespread newspaper exploitation brought him, and slipped away, leaving a host of "Friedmann institutes" to divide with him the dollars of the too hopeful and credulous sufferers. These "institutes" are being organized in various parts of the country and the personnel of those connected with these organizations in practically every instance is sufficient to suggest their true nature. Steps have been taken in several states to check this exploitation of the consumptive for commercial gain, especially in Idaho, Iowa and Arkansas. In others, the weakness of local ordinances has made this impossible. What is now needed is that these unscrupulous attempts should be met with an intensive campaign of education of the public concerning the dangers and worthlessness of the treatment.

A Sempiternal Bull.

Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—According to a telegram received by P. R. Perkins of this city, the four scientists who were killed by cannibals in German New Guinea are today safe on Murray Island, off the coast of Australia.—New York Evening Journal.

Other lands must have been laughing at that in the decade that ends with this year, for while we know it to be an imperishable bull we have not heard of its use in the United States since 1903—what time Mr. Henry A. Hirschberg, now of San Antonio, solemnly declared in the course of his argument in the Harvard interclass debates, for which he was awarded the Pasteur medal, that "very few foreign travelers ever reach the interior cities of Morocco alive, and those who do are brought in dead." 'Tis a lapsus linguae that originated with Plutarch and will not be lost 'til the last Unionist spellbinder vanishes from the face of Erin.

FLOODS IN TEXAS.

Many photographs in the newspapers, the week past, showed familiar spots in Texas cities and the havoc wrought to business property and homes by streams overflowing from the continued heavy downpour. If an average were to be struck, it might be said that cities in this region suffer from more or less general inundation in their business districts about once in ten years. The countryside, of course, is affected by every heavy rain that swells the little water courses and rushes adown beds that have been dry for many months. Much crop acreage and many crops are ruined by mud deposits. A cloudburst takes its toll in wealth of the soil. But in the cities incomparably more than in the country is there utter indifference, apparently, to the rare recurrence of these floods. For these do come so rarely that the costly effects of a city overflowed seem to be forgotten almost with the return of sunshine. It is a fact that needs no stressing that the tiny streams—the streams that are even subject of jest in seasons of drouth or light rainfall—that lol through our cities in the Southwest, as elsewhere, are the streams that do heavy damage in times of unusual precipitation. That was true in Columbus, last spring, in the case of the Scioto and it was more notably true in San Antonio last week in the case of the San Antonio river.

After every countryside inundation there is talk in Texas of the conservation of flood waters and State-directed levee and drainage work to protect the fields. In the first week of July, after the heavy rain and cloudburst in North Texas when the Sabine and Trinity (east fork) rivers rampaged, it was reported from Austin that the floods in the valleys of these streams might result in the creation of a State commission to undertake general construction of a system of levees to protect lands from such serious overflows. We commended the suggestion then, especially as there are many indications that these deluges may come more frequently than in many years. It now appears that there is about as much need for the services and advice of such an authority as the State reclamation engineer, Capt. Arthur A. Stiles, in the cities as in the country—for in the cities lately put to much damage by river overflows the problem is by no means confined to proper storm water drainage. The sun is again over Texas, and it may be that that indifference which has been to blame for such losses in the cities every decade or so is as flagrant as ever—but the loss will be felt for some time to come and this is opportune time for the cities to determine on work that will protect their people and property against future trouble of this character. The cities seemingly stand in as much need of engineering construction, for protection, as does the agricultural region for conservation.

Awake, and Hear the Birdies Chirp.

Sam Houston's portrait has been removed from the Texas capitol to make room for one of Joe Bailey. Startling—but a portrait of the State of Texas at the present time would probably look more like Joe Bailey than it would like Sam Houston.—New York Evening Mail.

The Mail is the 4-11th newspaper whose paragraph has taken snap judgment of the Houston portrait episode. This wit's knowledge of the extent of reverence for the great leader's memory in Texas appears to be of a piece with his view of the state's political complexion nowadays in the matter of J. W. B. "More like Joe Bailey than like Sam Houston." The ignorance of it! We have the magnificent city of Houston and the magnificent county of Houston—while town and county of Bailey are alike unincorporated and unorganized. And still in Texas there is no public address of moment complete without eulogium of the general, while reference to—Enough, however.

Perhaps Sulzer's counsel know what they are talking about. But it occurs to us that if Sulzer's complete "statement of the whole affair involved in these impeachment proceedings" makes a sympathy ten strike or a political upheaval with the people of New York, what happens to the governor on cross examination under this statement would be a matter of secondary concern to him. But the odds are against his holding his job whether he tells all or tells little.

"If elected, I will devote my entire time and attention to the duties of the office and endeavor to serve loyally and faithfully the people of Alabama," says Hon. Oscar W. Underwood, announcing his candidacy for the seat of the late Senator Johnston. What Democrat in Alabama—or in Maine or in California—doubts this?

We will commend President Wilson's kindness in buying that messenger boy struck by the motor car a new 'cycle—unless he makes it a motorcycle. There is no necessity of making this incident the start of a series of narrow escapes for the public.

Mayors and the municipal corporation attorneys of Texas cities will organize an association. If some of the mayors individually and on their own behalf will do a little organizing Texas cities generally will be even better places to live in.

"Dallas county detectives are confident the murderer of Stallings will be behind jail bars within one week." Speaking of the Brown murder mystery—of course the public shares the detectives' confidence in themselves.

Oklahoma's criminal appellate court considers Oklahoma's governor in contempt. It may be said that there is a reign of contempt in, for and by Oklahoma officialdom.

Dallas will have a "vice crusade" via the county attorney. It will not run to stamping out homicide and other small Dallas vices.

Texas Viewpoints.

Those Baltimore "Yankees."

"The affection of the Yankees, especially Bostonians and Baltimoreites, for the 'colored brother' seems to have become alienated within the past few years, and now they are strenuously seeking divorce." Hamilton Record begins a paragraph. We should say so—as far as Baltimore is concerned—if Baltimore ever knew that sort of brotherly love! "Baltimore Yankees"—mercy on us! what has the illuminating Sun of Baltimore to say to that? Far be it from us to deny it were best that the d. p. b. its d., but it has not buried them so deep that we have utterly forgotten what happened to the Sixth Massachusetts on its way to the front, in that beautiful city on the Patuxent. "The affection of Baltimoreites for the 'colored brother'." Save the mark!

"The Menace" Is One.

Col. George Bailey writes that "a Missouri paper called 'The Menace' is beginning to show itself on the exchange table, but we can get all the Republican dope from Missouri that we care for from our esteemed old contempt, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat." Putting aside the jest, we are certain also that the Houston Post's prodigious paragraph has no use for the sort of dope peddled by "The Menace." A publication dedicated to slinking mud at a Christian faith has no place in the esteem of a decent daily newspaper in this age of religious toleration.

The Collegeport News Era.

Collegeport, Matagorda county, has a new newspaper. The name of the new newspaper is the New Era, preceded, of course, by Collegeport. J. J.

Rodebaugh is the editor and publisher and the newspaper has made a good beginning. It is the laudable ambition of every maker of a new newspaper that his work shall be instrumental in bringing to his community a new era of prosperity; so, although Collegeport is a thriving community, it is no different than any other community in being able to stand all the prosperity its progressive spirit entitles it to, and we hope the name of the new newspaper is a prophecy for this town and county. Editor Rodebaugh has our wishes for the success of the New Era.

Brave Little Laredo Times.

Justo Penn, editor of, and head of the company publishing, the Laredo Times, is a good friend whom we have never met in person. But we have met him so often and so delightfully through exchange of comment in the columns of this newspaper and his, that we are certain the friendship we feel for him and his publication would be appreciably increased by a meeting, and we hope this privilege will not be delayed long in the realization. There is right occasion frequently for us to compliment the Times on its editorial policy, its broadness and brightness. We have read no keener, more honest four-page daily; it is a newspaper that may be ranked as the first factor in its community's upbuilding. The issue of October 3 is before us and from its leader on "Laredo's Disaster," which has to do with the general damage to the city's public utility plants, caused by the disastrous rains of the three weeks past, and resultant hardships to the citizens, we take this: "The Times probably suffered more than any other business concern in the city. All our equipment is based upon the use of gas and electricity. For the lack of the electric current our linotype was rendered useless, and when the current was again furnished it was found we had no gas with which to melt the metal necessary to cast the lines which make up our paper. All of the work had to be done by hand, and unfortunately we were not equipped as well as in former days to set type by hand. During the coming period,.... of no gas we shall do the best we can to turn out a paper. But added to the mechanical difficulties which we have to face, there is the absolute impossibility of receiving The Associated Press report, which renders us unable to give our readers the news of the world." That is the spirit of the daily newspaper everywhere—it must publish daily, its readers expect their newspaper daily and it will strain every possible resource to meet this demand. If there are rival dailies in a city, neither will withhold assistance from the other in event of accident or catastrophe from any cause. Each knows the full meaning of the necessity of publishing. And the issue of the Times before us is highly commendable and would be commendable even under less harsh circumstances. The hand-set type is clean, the pages are remarkably free of typographical errors and the appearance of the entire production in itself scarcely tells of the exigency the force had to overcome. Again we have occasion to compliment this little daily of the border that makes good under all circumstances.

Peddlers Reply to Grocers

Sunday in the Morning News appeared an article headed "Grocers vs. Peddlers," and cited why the peddling system should be discontinued by law. In the first place, use their business name correctly. He is not a peddler, but a huckster. (Refer to Webster.) The article says it is unfair competition. Why? A huckster sells his wares, establishes fresh from the growers and it is ready for the home almost instantly. The lady sees what she gets and gets her money's worth. In my experience with grocers, if you order a head of lettuce, okra or any of the many delicious summer dainties, you will find it has been kept so long that it is wilted and withered and shows it has been on hand some time.

"There is no regulation governing their weights and measures," he says of the huckster. God help the man who carries that. He is ignorant and never bought a pound of goods from a huckster in his life. They don't have to be regulated because they give all that is due and generally more thrown in. A grocery man will give you twelve pounds of potatoes, put them in the sack and even tell you you have been given your peck. Try the huckster. If he doesn't give you more than fourteen pounds and more likely fifteen, he won't sell to you. I have never yet found a grocery man who would give as good measure as a huckster.

The Locus of that Fat.

Nacodoches Sentinel says that skinny pocketbooks will keep some skinny girls from taking Miss Genevieve Clark's advice to take a tour in Europe. To which Houston Chronicle adds, "If a tour in Europe will make a thin girl fat, will staying at home make a fat girl thin? If so, it is a cheap remedy." Cheap, unfortunately, in more ways than one, or in more than one meaning. For occasionally we run across a young woman, sometimes thin and sometimes plump, for whom an European tour has resulted most noticeably in fat in the caput. And fat in the caput is something every nice young woman is nicer without.

Waco and The News.

The Interurban's Advance.
 Another interurban line has been completed in Texas, the one from Dallas to Waco. This is probably the longest electric line in the state, the distance between the two cities being about 100 miles. Like the other electric lines, this one will capture most of the local passenger business on account of its cheaper rates and more convenient schedules. Electric lines are being constructed between the larger towns of the state as rapidly as capitalists can get to them, and away from them the electric cars will do virtually all of the local passenger business.—Honey Grove Signal.

A Very Earnest Editor.

The Cotton Palace directors now admit that it is impossible to secure President Wilson's presence in Waco at the opening of the big exposition November 1, but it is also a fact that they made a creditable effort to get him.—Mart Herald.

Watch Waco's Public Schools.

(Dawson Herald.)
 Waco is evidently one of the leading school cities in the state, and well deserves the name of "a good school center" with all that term implies. For years past Baylor, T. C. U., which was destroyed by fire some two years ago, and the splendid commercial college, together with the well-equipped negro schools on the East Side, have given Waco a state-wide reputation as a school town for both whites and blacks. It is only, however, for the past year or two that Waco has begun to make material changes and such wonderful improvement in her public schools system as must eventually win for her the plaudits of all those who really and truly understand the child's great needs along educational lines. Many of the reforms and various progressive steps taken towards perfecting plans for the physical growth and intellectual advancement of the school children in Waco we attribute to the press of that city notably among which the Waco Morning News deserves special mention, for the unceasing efforts put forth during the past year for the publicity of all official acts of the school board. It is only when those who work for the public's interest and money understand that the public is keeping tab on their consistency and purpose, or intention, that they give and do their best. Such a condition has been brought about in Waco, as the public meetings of teachers and patrons held there last Saturday evidenced. One feature of improvement inaugurated in Waco's public schools is worthy of special mention and imitation. It is the inauguration of ungraded rooms. This, in our opinion, is one of the greatest needs of our public schools, and will prove one of the best auxiliaries which could possibly be provided to all parents. In the public school in the state (graded) there are eight grade pupils studying algebra and Latin who do not understand "denominate numbers" or the simple English sentence—neither can they spell correctly the ordinary words used in common conversation. This is a deficiency which needs correction, otherwise the building foundation must ever remain weak. Watch Waco public schools.

One can see from the above that there is the very widest range to suit all tastes. There will be civic, historical and allegorical street parades, free to the masses. Free daily concerts by Ellery's famous band. There will be millions of dollars in treasured showings and priceless art, modern machinery, implements and labor saving devices of all kinds; autos and all means of present day locomotion displayed.

Waco at the present time has over a million dollars' worth of public and private improvement going on; a ten-story hotel in course of construction, seven-story Praetorian building, a new Masonic home and miles of paved streets and broad, beautiful boulevards. Besides viewing the great Cotton Palace exposition in all its fullness and grandeur, one may also see a city that is growing by leaps and bounds. While the Cotton Palace is a panorama of inspiration, education and amusement, the city itself offers many attractions to make your visit a most pleasant and profitable one. The Cotton Palace is an all-Texas institution and the gates are thrown open to the multitudes of the Lone Star State, as well as visitors from afar, who come to see mirrored in the bounteous displays the possibilities of Texas soil, coupled with energy and hardwork.

COTTON PALACE NOTES.

Do not miss seeing the Cotton Palace zoo and aquarium this fall. The wonderful exhibits in every line at the Texas Cotton Palace, Waco, November 1 to 14, will be conclusive evidence of the wonderful advancement of the Southwest in every branch of industry. The richer premiums offered this year by the Cotton Palace will draw many more exhibits and the displays will be attractive indeed. The art, culinary and textile departments of the Cotton Palace, November 1 to 14, afford great education features in which every woman visitor will be interested.

The division of the Cotton Palace in which the work of the school children is displayed will be attractive to the many thousands of visitors to the exposition this fall. The exhibit of the works of manual art, drawings, crafts, original school work, domestic science, etc., at the 1913 Cotton Palace will be on a larger scale than ever before. It is estimated that nearly a million people have viewed the fine exhibits of masterpieces in art at the Cotton Palace during its existence, and this year the art galleries will be visited by additional tens of thousands to see the superb and priceless collections.

The new business buildings that will be in course of construction in Waco during the Cotton Palace will be an additional attraction for the people to see. Everyone is interested in the forward strides of all Texas cities. When Waco secured the Texas Traveling Men's Museum, valued at $50,000, for exhibition at the Greater 1913 Cotton Palace, one of the finest attractions ever presented to the public was made possible. Rare coins, some 2,500 years of age, will be on exhibit; medals from the Napoleonic era and stamps from all nations of the globe, many of exceedingly great rarity, will be placed for the public view, and the guns, pistols, swords, etc., of every age will be most interesting to see. More grounds have been bought and the race features made possible thereby will prove great drawing cards for the 1913 Cotton Palace. The brilliant electrical illuminations during the Greater 1913 Cotton Palace at night will present scenes the most charming. The entire grounds and all the buildings will be lighted as never before, neither time nor expense to be spared in showing the very latest in such work. The women, one and all, will be interested in the vast showings in the respective women's departments of the Greater 1913 Cotton Palace. Mrs. J. W. Bass, general chairman, is working indefatigably to make of these divisions one of the most complete showings of women's work, labor-saving devices, complete ranges of art, textiles, etc. In the art department will be shown some of the world's masterpieces, in the cotton modeling department will be wondrous exhibits of the genius and skill of Texas school children; in the textiles will be enormous displays, while in the curio, relics and antiques department, as well as in the entire category, will be the most interesting displays.

The machinery and implement departments, the auto exhibits and the showings of the latest in air craft will form a display worth millions, and will be one of the strong features of the Greater 1913 Cotton Palace.

Agricultural, Horticultural, Livestock and Poultry Displays Supreme.

Waco to Be in Gala Attire Million Dollars in Displays

"Thrice happy time—in autumn;
 Best portion of the year in which
 Nature rejoiceth—smiling on her works,
 Lovely to full perfection wrought."

And this is Cotton Palace time—November 1 to 14—in Waco, one of the fastest growing cities of Texas, that has provided the most unique exposition in the South for the wondrous displays of cotton in every conceivable form, from the field to the loom, thence to the cloth into the making of garments; also for the display of the state's best in agricultural, horticultural and livestock pursuits, the finest of poultry, pet stock and all to interest the populace in all vocations of life. The Cotton Palace opens November 1, with ceremonies by the city officials and state officials, including Governor Colquitt and his staff. The exposition comes when the harvests are over, the crops are laid by and a holiday time has arrived for the multitudes who sow and reap. This is indeed a most fitting time.

At the Cotton Palace you will find everything to delight and instruct

"Spread before you in vast array
 Nature's best in grand array;
 Braided coronets of grain and flowers,
 Jeweled canopies, booths and bowers;
 All that's wondrous in every form—
 Scenes of Beauty, grace and charm.
 Women's work in every call,
 A brilliant showing, best of all,
 Garters from all parts of earth,
 Features funny—laughter, mirth,
 Frolic, folly, a joyous feast,
 Music, merriment without surcease,
 Comedy kings, clowns, buffoons,
 Freaks of nature, apes, baboons,
 Tented wonders, Wild West shows—
 Such a time—goodness knows."

DOCTORS DID NOT HELP HER

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. LeClear's Health—Her Own Statement.

Detroit, Mich. — "I am glad to discover a remedy that relieves me from my suffering and pains. For two years I suffered bearing down pains and got all run down. I was under a nervous strain and could not sleep at night. I went to doctors here in the city but they did not do me any good."

"Seeing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised, I tried it. My health improved wonderfully and I am now quite well again. No woman suffering from female ills will regret it if she takes this medicine."—Mrs. JAMES G. LECLEAR, 336 Hunt St., Detroit, Mich.

Another Case.

Philadelphia, Pa. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is all you claim it to be. About two or three days before my periods I would get bad backaches, then pains in right and left sides, and my head would ache. I called the doctor and he said I had organic inflammation. I went to him for a while but did not get well so I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking two bottles I was relieved and finally my troubles left me. I married and have two little girls. I have had no return of the old troubles."—Mrs. CHAS. BOELL, 2500 S. Chadwick St., Phila., Pa.

SELF DEFENSE SMITH'S PLEA

SLAYER OF NAMEAKE CLAIMS JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE.

HAS BEEN TWICE CONVICTED

McNamara and Taylor Prosecuting. Williams and Williams and Edgar Harrell for the Defense.

Wm. Smith, who went to trial in the Fifty-Fourth District court yesterday for the third time on a charge of killing Jim Smith, will plead self-defense. Smith's case is one of the notable of its kind in this county. Twice before he has been convicted of the charge. At the first trial he was convicted of first degree murder.

The case was appealed and reversed by the court of appeals. On the second trial Smith was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

Beyond Shadow of Gallows.

This decision was also appealed and the higher court reversed the action of the district court. Because of the fact that he was convicted of manslaughter at the last trial, he cannot be tried for a higher degree of crime at this hearing.

The crime of which he is charged occurred November 22, 1907. Smith shot Jim Smith following an altercation which occurred in South Waco. The defense claims the dead man was also shooting at the time and claims the defendant acted in self-defense.

The state is represented at the trial by County Attorney John B. McNamara and Assistant Howell L. Taylor. The firm of Williams & Williams and Edgar Harrell represent the defendant.

Hipp Gets Benefit of New Law.

The suspended sentence, an act of a recent legislature, was called into play in the Fifty-Fourth District court yesterday and it granted freedom to J. E. Hipp. Hipp entered a plea of guilty to forgery before a jury. His sentence was fixed at two years by that body, with the recommendation that the suspended sentence law be invoked. On this recommendation Hipp was granted the suspended sentence and released on his own recognizance. He is charged with duplicating a note for $5545. It is claimed that he had received a note for insurance premiums and had duplicated the same, cashing it at the Provident National bank.

Moseley Is Jailed.

Albert Moseley, charged with taking a buggy and using it, and indicted by the grand jury, pleaded guilty to the charge yesterday in county court and was sentenced to six months in jail. This is the lowest penalty that can be assessed in such cases. The conviction is the first to be obtained under the new law making it an offense to take another vehicle and appropriate it to your use.

DIRECTORS GLEEFUL

SANGUINE OF GREATEST SEASON IN COTTON PALACE'S HISTORY.

Privileges Granted to Woodmen of World and Odd Fellows—All Reports Encouraging.

At last night's meeting of the Cotton Palace directors the following participated: W. H. Hoffmann, president; L. Migel, W. W. Fryer, E. F. Drake, W. T. Abernathy, H. S. Forman, C. H. Cox, Asher Sanger, T. P. Duncan and Secretary Seth N. Mayfield.

The directors were granted a log cabin, space free, same to be used as rest rooms and a general rendezvous for the fraternity.

The Odd Fellows were granted space for a tent for the same purpose.

Secretary Seth N. Mayfield announced that construction had begun on the new poultry building, same to occupy a space 50x150 feet and to be modern in every respect.

Interest in Woman's Day.

When the fitting celebration of Woman's Day, scheduled for Saturday, November 8, came up every one became enthusiastic. President Hoffmann stated that the women of this entire section were bending every effort to make of Woman's Day the grandest possible success. One of the most elaborate parades ever seen in the south will be pulled off, he said, on that occasion, starting promptly at 2 p. m. and consisting of decorated automobiles, floats and vehicles of all kinds, pretty little girls on ponies, and on decorated bicycles, and lady passengers on motorcycles, each division to be marshaled by a force of beautiful young ladies, natty attired.

Little flower fairies will dispense bouquets and buds along the route. The various innovations will be unique in every way and far surpassing anything ever witnessed before.

"The women of Waco and the women of all Central Texas are cordially invited to participate in the parade and the festivities," said President Hoffmann. "This I learn from Mrs. E. J. Lennox, in charge of Woman's Day and every woman not only of Waco but of the state is asked to heartily join in and contribute to the day in some way, even the slightest."

Decorations Elaborate.

The decoration committee reported that splendid work was being done throughout all the buildings. Sam P. Herbert has been engaged to give his attention to the decorations of the booths and the planning therefor. The multitudes are thus assured that the displays of the merchants and the various exhibits in the booths will far surpass any previous offerings.

Tom M. Hamilton was delegated as director in charge of the Cotton Circus Day, Friday, November 7. Mr. Hamilton has already announced his committee men and side-splitting stunts will be the order of the day.

Want Stores Closed.

All the stores of Waco will be asked to close promptly at 6 o'clock on Saturday, November 7, the opening day.

A committee to attend to this detail was named as follows: W. J. Mitchell, Dero Wood, A. C. Patton, Sol Hirschberg, Dick Smith and Frank Miller.

There will be a grand opening parade following almost immediately, at 6:30, when fuses of red, brilliantly illuminating the entire line of march, will be touched off. The fire department, the military company and other organizations will participate in this feature. All whistles will blow and anvils will ring out with glad acclaim that the Greater 1913 exposition is on. The governor's ball at 9 o'clock will follow. Everybody is invited. This will be a most gala occasion for every one, and it is desired to make the opening day this year the best of all.

On the Sunday morning following Ellery's world-famous band will render its first sacred concert, also one in the afternoon and one in the evening.

Baby Show and Children's Ball.

Then comes the baby show at 2 p. m. in the afternoon on Monday, in charge of Director C. H. Cox, followed by a children's ball at night.

Tuesday, November 4, is Waco Day and Union Labor Day. Of course everything will be turned loose in Waco to make of this occasion a great success in every way. Messrs. I. Friedlander and M. B. Davis were named as a committee to confer with Central Labor Council and arrange for elaborate participation by the various union labor organizations of Waco.

On Wednesday, November 5, occurs the society ball, President Hoffmann stating that the details were being worked out to perfection by the committee in charge.

Brilliant Pyrotechnic Show.

One of the great features of the second Monday, November 10, will be by hundreds of outside automobiles and the fireworks display at night, with beautiful designs and thrills of various kind.

Director W. W. Pryor announced that season tickets would be placed on sale at an early date.

Messrs. Percy Willis and Lawrence Hall appeared before the directors, announcing that the most expensive preparations were being made for Automobile Day, Wednesday, November 12, with prizes aggregating at the present time over $1,250 for the parade features. The day will close with a grand automobile ball at night, to be attended by hundreds of outside automobilists.

Call for Flags.

C. H. Cox, of the decoration committee, stated that the committee would like to have all the Confederate and Texas flags possible to obtain to be used in the decorations of the building and booths, all having any to donate to take the matter up with Secretary Seth N. Mayfield.

Director W. T. Abernathy of the livestock division, announced that practically all available space had been contracted for and if any one had any stock to exhibit it would be necessary to secure entry blanks at once.

Preparing for Bohemian Day.

The program committee for Bohemian day at the Cotton Palace met last night, those present being Victor Bunata, chairman; M. J. Manana, Method Frazier and Frank Taborsky.

Among other items of interest it was announced that the members of the Bohemian athletic clubs, the Sokols, will have a field day on the day preceding Bohemian day, in which teams from all over Texas will participate.

The grand lodge of the Sokols, located at Ennis, has agreed to pay the expenses of all teams from Texas judges who wish to attend, the only condition being that there be at least six men in the team. There are about 2,000 members of the Sokol organization in Texas, and it is expected that the field day will be one of the features of the exposition.

The program prepared last night is as follows:

The Sokols in parade at 11 a. m.

Invalid Men and Women

I will give you FREE a sample of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets that have brought health and happiness to thousands—also a book on any chronic disease requested.

During many years of practice I have used numerous combinations of curative medicines for liver ills. I have kept a record of the result in case after case, so that my staff of physicians and surgeons, at the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., are able to diagnose and treat cases at a distance with uniform good results.

But for the permanent relief of blood disorders and impurities, I can recommend my "Golden Medical Discovery," a blood medicine without alcohol or other injurious ingredients.

R. V. PIERCE, M.D., Buffalo, N. Y.

Nature's Way Is The Best

Buried deep under American forests are found bloodroot, queen's root, mandrake and golden root, golden seal, Oregon grape root and cherry bark. Of these Dr. R. V. Pierce made a pure, glycerine extract, which has been favorably known for over forty years. He calls it "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." This "Discovery" purifies the blood and opens up the stomach and the entire system in Nature's own way. It's just the thing for bilious and toxic conditions.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has the endorsement of many thousands that it has cured them of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heartburn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

"In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption, the 'Golden Medical Discovery' is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on-coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The 'Discovery' is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken."

Sold in tablet or liquid form by all principal dealers in medicines, or send fifty one-cent stamps for trial package of tablets.

THE FITTING OF GLASSES

Not a Mercantile Proposition, Says Dr. W. B. Georgia.
Frontal Headache, Dizziness, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Neuralgia in the Temples, Pains in the Back of the Head Are Often Due to Eyestrain—Glasses the Only Remedy.

The scientific fitting of glasses can not be conducted on a mercantile basis, for the reason that it requires something more than a mere pair of glasses of the most ordinary make to correct eye errors, which cause frontal headache, dizziness, dyspepsia, indigestion, nervousness, neuralgia, in the temples, pains in the back of the head, extending down into the shoulders and spine. The specialist who takes cases of this kind must not only know how to prescribe the proper lenses, but he must know how to adjust the frame and advise the wearing of glasses and the changing of lenses when changes are necessary. All this is very essential, and for this reason the optometrist (eyeglass specialist) is the proper person to consult when in need of glasses. Dr. Georgia has prescribed glasses for over ten thousand people in Waco and McLennan county. Many city officials, college professors, school teachers, ministers, bankers, physicians, dentists, editors, editors have had their eyes examined and glasses prescribed by this specialist, and all stand ready and willing to recommend his work in the highest terms.

If you are suffering with errors of the eye, headache, etc., as mentioned above, have Dr. W. B. Georgia prescribe your lenses and your trouble will be a thing of the past. Besides getting the desired relief, you will find that his charges for good and reliable services are most reasonable. Look for the big spectacle sign—Dr. W. B. Georgia & Co., Optometrists and Lens Grinders, 324 Austin street—Opposite Sanger Bros.—ground floor.

ROADS AROUND BELTON

WORK STARTS ON 55 MILES OF CONSTRUCTION—BOND ISSUE WAS $150,000.

First Issue to Carry in County—Balance of Money to Be Used on Improvements.

Belton, Tex., Oct. 6.—Work was formally commenced on the construction of gravelled roads in Precinct No. 1 of Bell county today when Contractor W. T. Montgomery of San Antonio arrived with men and equipment and established offices here.

The contract calls for the improvement of fifty-five miles of road in the precinct in which this city is located, the contract price being $105,000.

or less than $2,000 per mile. A bond issue of $150,000 was voted some time ago and the remainder of the proceeds will be used under supervision of road officials in improving other highways not included in the contract. This is the first good road bond election ever held in Bell county that carried and the people here are consequently elated over the fact that it has been able to establish a record for progressiveness. The roads first to be improved are the Belton-Cameron, Belton-Salado, Belton-Yonkersport and Belton-Tennessee Valley roads, all important arteries, and their completion will result in attracting a large amount of trade to Belton that has been going to neighboring cities that have no improved roads.

Temple Man to See Series.

Temple, Tex., Oct. 6.—Temple will be represented at the world's baseball series by C. E. Winn, a business man of this city, who departed Saturday night for the city of Gotham and will remain until the series is ended. Mr. Winn is an annual attendant upon this event and has not missed a series in several years.

PROBLEM NOW IS DEPRECIATION

EXPERT OLDS COMES TO GIVE HIS OPINION ON WACO VALUES.

OLD BUILDINGS ARE INSPECTED

Appraisers Did Not Take Into Account Ravages of Time and the Elements.

W. M. A. Olds, expert appraiser of the Manufacturers' Appraisal company, is here to go over the Somers system values with the board of equalization. It has been stated in the Morning News that when the board of equalization, composed of C. M. Hubby, E. W. Marshall and Sam H. Clayton, had taken up the work where the Somers system experts stopped, they found that the appraisers had not taken into account the proper percentage of depreciation in buildings and in some lands. Communication was had with William Young, the expert, who is now in San Antonio, and at his direction Mr. Olds has come to go over the work.

The fault so far discovered does not apply to new buildings, but to the old ones, and it is an effort to regulate the charges against these old buildings that the work will again be taken up. Yesterday at noon the members of the equalization board went with Mr. Olds to Bridge street and on the square to look over some of the buildings. There are brick houses on Bridge street and the square which have been standing for forty years, and it is certain in the minds of the equalizers that enough has not been allowed on these for depreciation.

Old Court House an Example.

Another building in point is the old court house, which is occupied now as a laundry, and which suits the purpose of those who are occupying it, but as a utility proposition for another line of business it would have less value. Mr. Olds said that he believed there should be some reduction made both from the standpoint of depreciation and that of utility. Buildings on the south side of the square which are forty years old and more are also to be considered in the matter of depreciation.

Negro Banker is Heard.

R. L. Smith, who operates the negro banking institution on Bridge street, talked with the board about property owned by him, by the negro society which he has promoted and by the bank. He said: "Colored people can not pay the rents which would be justified by the charge placed against these buildings for taxes."

The equalizers see the force of the argument and are going deeply into the question. Sam H. Clayton said yesterday: "The more I get into this thing the more influenced I am in favor of single tax."

The city commission decided yesterday to authorize an engineering concern here to make a map of all property in the city through which ditches and drains are running, so that the board of equalization will have a better idea of the value of those parts of town.

BEGIN TWO DAYS' MEETING.

Woman's Missionary Society for Waco District in Session.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church for the Waco district will begin a two days' meeting at West Wednesday morning. Some twenty-five members of the society from Waco it is expected will attend. They will leave here on the 8:13 train on the morning of the 7th, reaching West in time for the opening of the meeting which is set for 10 o'clock of that morning. Mrs. R. L. Abbott, district secretary of the Waco district, stated yesterday that the meeting would be an interesting one and that a good program had been prepared. It is expected that besides a large membership several conference officials will attend.

RESINOL RELIEVED ITCHING AT ONCE

And Completely Cured Skin Humors.

Nov. 1, 1912.—"At first little red spots were seen on my arms and body, which I noticed were getting larger every day. They itched me so much that I scratched myself until I bled. There were times when I stood up all night and scratched. I was troubled about three weeks, during which time I used —, which seemed to do me no good whatever. Then, finally, I thought of trying Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. As soon as I applied Resinol Ointment I felt much relief. After using it a few times, I noticed the sore spots slowly fading away, and in about a month I was cured." (Signed) Adolph Schoen, 742 Shepherd Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

The soothing, healing balsams in Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, penetrate every tiny pore of the skin, clearing it of all impurities, driving away eczema, rashes, ringworm, psoriasis, and other eruptions, and making pimples and blackheads impossible. Prescribed by physicians for eighteen years. For free samples write to Dept. 16-M, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Every drugstore sells Resinol Ointment (in epl jars, 50c and $1.00) and Resinol Soap (25c per cake).

GASOLINE ACCIDENT AT TEMPLE

Miss Mamie Cox Spills Fluid on Her Dress and It Becomes Ignited.

Temple, Tex., Oct. 6.—Miss Nannie Cox of this city was the victim of an accident today by means of which her life was imperiled for a short time, although she escaped with serious burns and is now in a serious condition. In filling a tank of gasoline some of the fluid was spilled on her dress, but no attention was paid to same. When a match was struck, however, with which to light the stove, the flames communicated to the dress, which soon was in a blaze. But for the timely assistance of Mrs. Dave Osborne, who was in the house at the time, and who enveloped the burning girl in a thick bed quilt, thus stifling the flames, the result might have been fatal.

Rainfall Record at Temple.

Temple, Tex., Oct. 6.—From records maintained at the state experiment farm west of this city it has been ascertained that during the first two days of October the rainfall in the Temple territory amounted to five inches, which, added to the nine inches recorded in September, constitutes the wettest thirty-two consecutive days that have been experienced here in some years.

KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES DISAPPEAR

Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of Croxone.

If you are bothered with backache—or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon. It is a positive fact that Croxone promptly overcomes such diseases.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out the poisonous waste matter from the blood. It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder.

More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate, long standing cases. You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it without results. An original package costs but a trifle, and your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time.

TAKING INVENTORY OF THE HAVOC

STREET DEPARTMENT HAS EXTENSIVE AND EXPENSIVE REPAIRS AHEAD.

CITY ENGINEER ON INSPECTION

Byars Finds Heaviest Damage in N. Ninth, Burlington, West Ave., Vermont, Morrow, Barron.

The street department yesterday began the survey and repair of damage done to streets and alleys by the recent rain. In the morning and also Sunday City Engineer George Byars made an inspection trip over the city. His investigation showed that the heaviest damage to streets was on the following: North Ninth, Burlington, West avenue, Vermont, Morrow and Barron. Also that two bridges over Waco creek, one at Cleveland and another at Ross street, were undamaged by the water, and will have to be repaired. These structures were nearly carried from their foundations by the strong current which ran in Waco creek Saturday afternoon. This current was added to by an unusual volume of water which came into Waco creek from the overflow of one of the small tanks of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad company situated above the creek.

Trenches Caved In. The principal damage to streets is in washed out gutters, in washed holes and in the caving-in of sewer water and gas trenches. The unusual rains of the week, together with continued traffic, broke through the surface gravel of many gravel-paved streets, doing considerable damage. In many places sewer, gas and water trenches caved in. The rain was the most continuous since last winter and it was the first good seasoning many of these trenches had had since that time. Some of these mains had only been in for a year.

100 Men at Work.

In preparation to reconstruct the streets and repair all damage, the street department yesterday put 100 men to work, together with 40 graders and fifty teams. This is an increase of one grader over the usual number employed and an increase of about 15 per cent in force.

During Saturday afternoon a lake of water assembled at Thirteenth and Fifteenth and Speight street, and also in other parts of the city.

Deep and Wide Lake.

The "lake" at Speight, however, was the largest, being between ten and twelve blocks in area, and with a depth of six or eight feet of water. Mr. Byars said yesterday that the drainage had been fairly well in most sections of the city, and that in some places where trouble in drainage had been experienced at previous rains the water drained off this time.

The extra force will be kept at work until the streets are again put into shape.

sanitary department and a full force was out yesterday clearing up debris and washed mud.

The cost to the city of the rain cannot be estimated at this time.

Dr. Burgess Speaks Johnson.
 Dr. John L. Burgess of this city is now in Canada or the northern portion of the United States in an effort to obtain information as to his brother-in-law, W. H. Johnson of this city. Mr. Johnson, who is the son of Capt. C. L. Johnson of this city, was last heard from in a letter mailed at Kansas City on August 18. He was then on his way to Canada, where he intended to join a camping party. Recently his family, becoming uneasy in regard to his continued absence and no news, wired to Toronto in an effort to locate him, where it was stated that his name did not appear on the list of those who had taken out licenses to hunt in Canada. When he started on the trip, Mr. Johnson carried between $100 and $150 in cash. After the telegraphic inquiries failed to bring any satisfaction, Dr. Burgess, who was intending to go to Rochester on professional business, hastened his trip and decided to extend it into the territory where he might hope to obtain news of his relative.

ARE READY—THE CURTAIN TO RISE IN THE WORLD SERIES

Players Are in Trim—Crowds Arrive From All Parts of United States—"Unsettled" Says Weather Man.

"PAY YOUR MONEY AND TAKE CHOICE"

Teams So Evenly Matched Professional Bookmakers Offer Odds of 10 to 9, Better Selecting Team. Three Scorers for Series.

New York, Oct. 6.—The stage is set and tomorrow the curtain will rise on the final act of the 1913 baseball drama. Behind the scenes the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Giants are at their stations ready for the cue that will send them into the limelight of the world's series.

Spectators from all parts of the United States are ready for the rush on the Polo grounds and only the menace of the weather man stands between thousands of fans and the fulfillment of their expectations.

"Unsettled conditions" was his dubious prediction for tomorrow.

Whether the forecaster be right or wrong, the fact remains that "unsettled conditions" is the keynote to the whole situation on the eve of playing the initial contest of the series which will evolve the baseball champions of the universe. Players, fans and prophets are all in the same boat. Of opinions and forecasts there are none, but each and every one is fringed with strings of "ifs" and "buts" until the seekers for facts become bewildered by the maze of counter information.

Viewed from any angle, the series appears to promise sensational baseball, with the luck and breaks of the game playing a part of more than usual importance.

Participants Do Not Predict.
Neither managers nor players will venture a straight prediction as to the result of either the first game or of the series and their doubt as to the outcome is reflected by the wagers. The Athletics are expected to retelliate with Bender and either Thomas or Schang behind the bat. Connie Mack's Indian twirler is said to be in splendid shape, and the Athletics' best card for the battle on hostile soil, as the Polo grounds will be tomorrow. Although Thomas has not been playing regularly of late it is the general opinion among the Philadelphia contingent that Mack will use the veteran in place of Schang because of his experience and ability to steady his pitcher in a crucial moment, such as always arises in world's series games.

Will Be Mathewson or Marquard.
McGraw, the chief tonight that he could not tell what pitcher he would work until he saw them warm up tomorrow afternoon. His choice, however, is almost certain to fall on either Mathewson or Marquard. Because of his great experience and his steadiness, Mathewson would be the logical choice, especially since he outpitched Bender in the opening game of the 1911 series. This plan necessitates the use of Marquard as second choice in Philadelphia on Wednesday and McGraw may decide that Mathewson would be steadier before the fans of Shibe park than his left-hander and reverse the order. There also is a possibility that both Mack and McGraw may attempt to learn the opposing line-up by sending either Shawkey or Brown or Tetreau or Demaree to the mound.

The lineup, aside from the batteries is also more or less in doubt. Either Shafer or Herzog may play third for the Giants, although the belief is general that McGraw will send Herzog to the third sack just before the first Athletic player steps to bat. This seems the more likely because it is considered improbable that McGraw will start his regular third baseman, Strunk, in the series, thus practically forcing McGraw to play Shafer in center field.

Some uncertainty also exists regarding the occupant of center field for the Athletics tomorrow. If the Giants send a left-handed twirler to the pitcher's box it is almost a surety that Mack will use Walsh in center, since Strunk is known as a weak batter against a southpaw.

Probable Line-ups.
Taking anything into consideration, the most probable line-up for the first game of the world's series is as follows:
Philadelphia. New York.
1. Murphy.....cf Herzog.....2b
2. Oldring.....cf Doyle.....2b
3. Collins.....2b Fletcher.....ss
4. Baker.....3b Burns.....cf
5. McFadden.....1b Strunk.....cf
6. Strunk.....cf Murray.....cf
7. Barry.....ss Meyers.....c
8. Thomas.....c Merkle.....1b
9. Bender.....p P. Mathewson.....p

NO MORE PLAYER WRITERS
Commission Rules Those Signing Contracts Before September 27 May Write This Year.

New York, Oct. 6.—No baseball player or manager may write for the newspapers after the present world's series, but those with contracts with newspapers signed prior to September 27 may go ahead with their writing this year.

The decision was reached by the National Baseball Commission this afternoon. So far as is known, all player-writers made their contracts prior to September 27, so none will be affected by today's ruling.

Chairman Herrmann explained that the commission was not attempting to rule against the players writing at the request of the Baseball Writers' association. At the request of the same association the commission decided to appoint an additional scorer to be selected by the newspaper men. This will make three scorers in all for the series, and in case of a disputed point the majority will rule.

Members of the commission said that after the series all the player-writers would be required to show their contracts. Those who cannot produce bona-fide contracts signed before September 27 will be penalized.

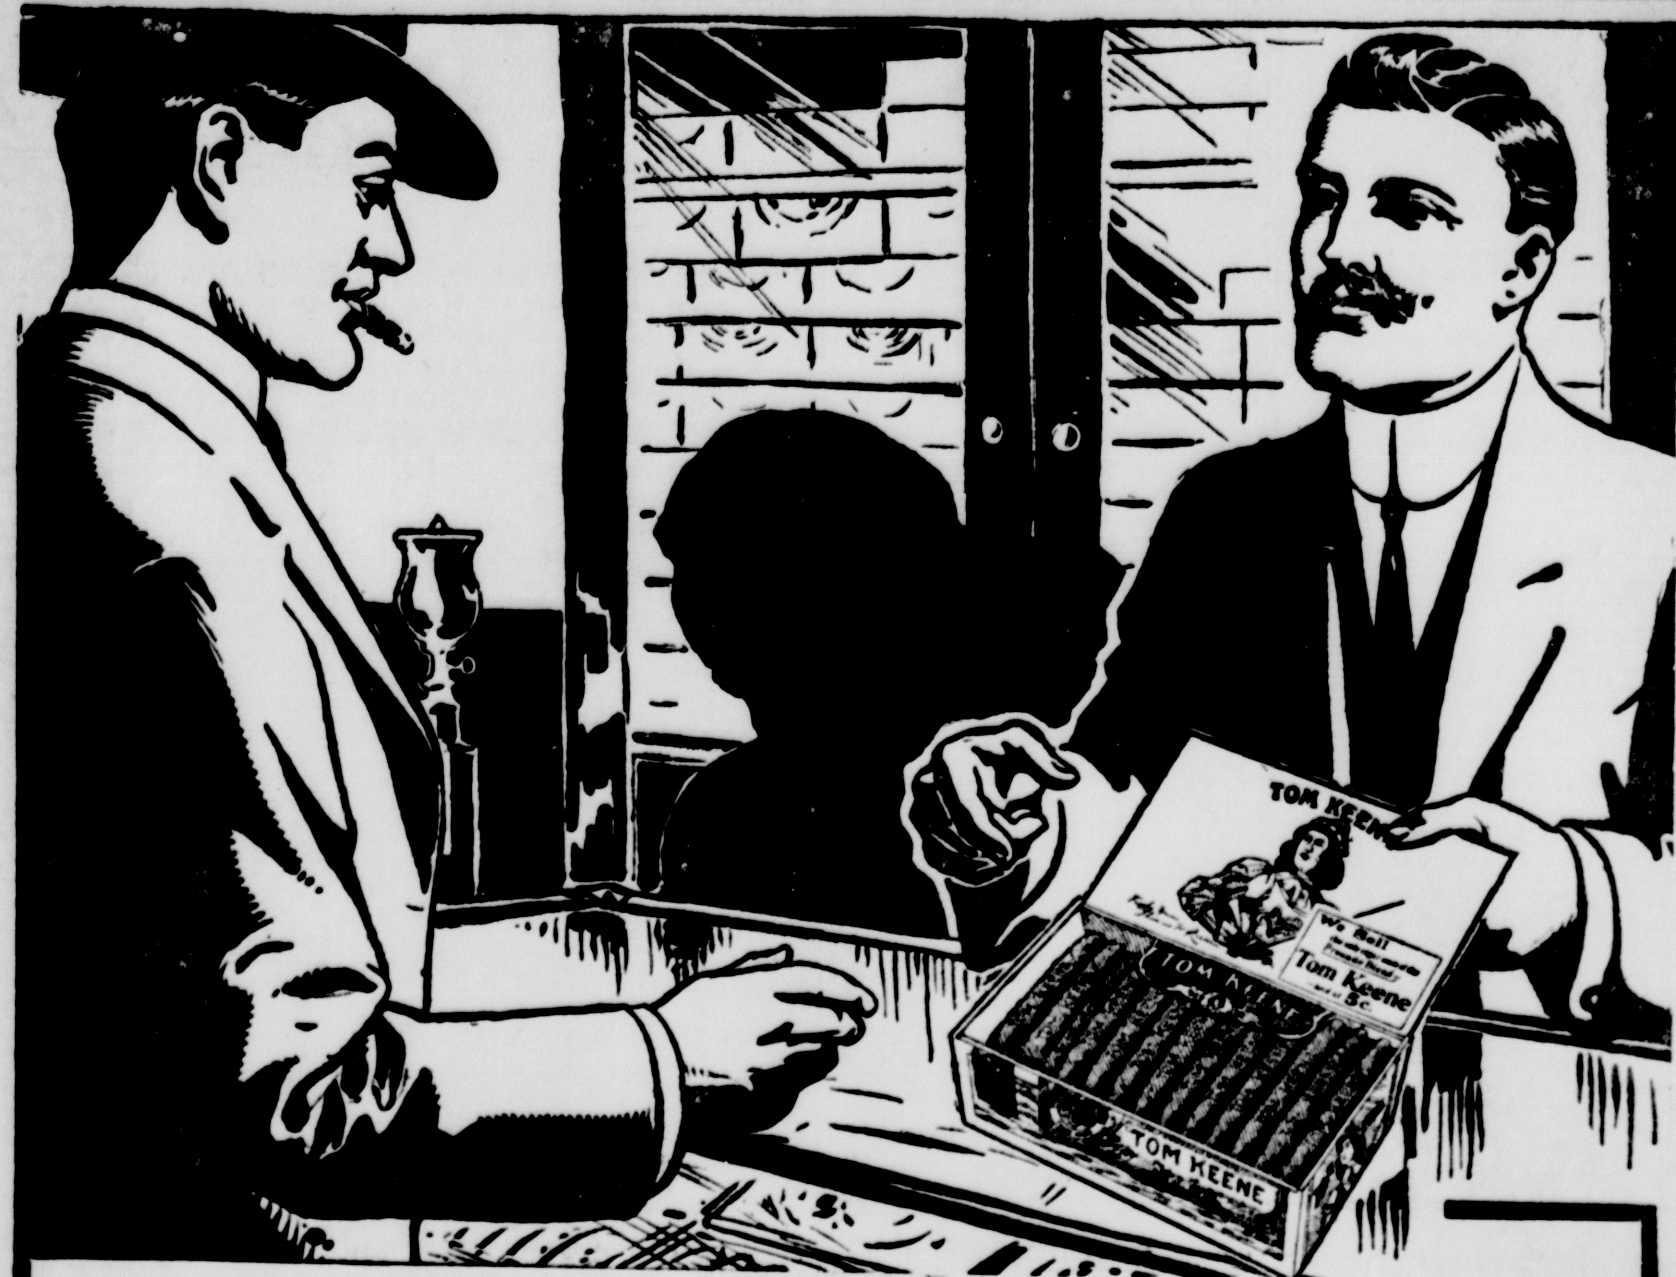

The rules were gone over with the umpires and the commission adjourned.

GYMNASIUM CLASSES START
V. M. C. A. Physical Department Opens With Prospects for Record Season.

Gymnasium classes started yesterday at the Young Men's Christian association. While all work of remodeling has not yet been completed inside the building, the gymnasium is in working order and the season was started with a boys' class in the afternoon.

Physical Director S. C. Pew is giving physical examinations to all applicants for gymnasium work. This is done in individual and to avoid work that might prove harmful.

Secretary S. R. Hankins announces the swimming pool will be opened within a few days. New members are joining continually and the fall work is starting with unusually bright prospects.

CONGESTION OF MAIL

WACO HAS OUTGROWN POST-OFFICE FORCE ALLOWED THE CITY.

More Carriers, More Clerks Needed. Prompt Deliveries of Mail Physically Impossible.

On account of the muddy condition of the streets caused by the recent rains the local postoffice has been handicapped for the past week, and in several cases it has been necessary to cut down the deliveries from two a day to one. The chief reason for the fact that the postoffice authorities are unable to handle the extra matter satisfactorily is that the number of carriers is insufficient to a town of Waco's size.

City Has Outgrown Office.
The number of carriers is based on the last census, which gives Waco a population of 26,000, whereas conservative estimates at present show the city to have 30 per cent more than that. One fact alone, which has come into existence since the last census is that there are a thousand new railroad men in the city as employees of the Katy.

The population of Baylor and other educational institutions of the city increased in the census, and these must all be taken care of, in addition to the increase of population which comes from other sources.

More Help Needed.
The Waco postoffice authorities have been making strenuous efforts for an increase of the clerk and carrier appropriation for local service, but so far without effect.

At present the rush incident to the first of the month is greater than usual. The parcel post receipts are continually increasing, yesterday filling twenty baskets three feet in height. In accordance with the recent ruling of the postoffice department, all parcel post matter must be counted and weighed. The new contracts for rural routes and for the railroad carriers are now in course of preparation, and the mails are being weighed and counted on a majority basis in order to compile the necessary statistics.

Rural Routes Under Inquiry.
The rural routes are being investigated in order to ascertain if they are self-sustaining.

The Waco carriers are hard pressed to handle the mail promptly under ordinary conditions, which is indicated by the fact that only one carrier is allowed to the East Waco residence section. When the service becomes so heavy as at present, coupled with bad weather it is impossible to give as prompt service as the public demands.

COLUMBUS PAVING COMPLETED.

Finishing Touches Will Be Given Before the Close of Today.

The bituthic pavement will be completed on Columbus street as far as Twenty-First by tomorrow night, unless rains cause further delay. The "hot stuff" or last layer of the pavement, was completed yesterday as far as Nineteenth street. After Twenty-First is reached, it will be necessary to wait about seven days for the concrete base to harden. The rainy spell has delayed the concrete work for several weeks. The work of putting in curbs and gutters on Eighteenth has gotten well started, and by tonight it is expected to have them completed from Jefferson to Morrow on one side of the street. There has as yet been no move on the part of the Eighteenth street property owners to put down lead pipe connections where the new paving will run. The paving company expects to start grading within a few days after which the plumbing work will be started. This means that the connection now used will have to be left under the new pavement, where it will not be possible to replace it at a later date. The connections now used cannot be expected to last more than a year or two, whereas lead connections would last indefinitely.

Penn. Loses Wilson.
Philadelphia, Oct. 4.—The University of Pennsylvania football team suffered a loss today when it was announced that Harry Wilson, veteran tackle on the red and blue eleven last year, would not come out for the team this season. Wilson is a senior in the medical school and despite the appeals of Captain Young and Head Coach Brooke he has decided not to go in for athletics this fall, but devote all his time to study.

Markets Telegraph

Cotton.

New York, Oct. 6.—Lower cables, the apparent clearing weather in the southwest, over Sunday and a bearish southern crop estimate appeared to encourage bearish or reactionary sentiment in the cotton market at the opening today, but after an early break of 22 to 23 points there was a partial rally on covering bull support, with the close steady at a net loss of 15 to 20 points. Selling was active and more or less general at the start. The crop estimate of 15,750,000 bales by a prominent authority was considered too far out of line with popular expectations to have been fully accepted, but doubtless added to the unsettled feeling in the market. There were quite a good many over-Sunday buying orders around the ring, and after starting easy at a decline of 15 to 15 points there was a slight rally, but prices soon eased off again with December contracts selling at 15.55 during the middle of the morning, or about 40 points under the high records of last week. After the close of Liverpool had shut out arbitrage business and the publication of the western belt forecast for unsettled weather with lower temperatures, offerings became lighter and the market steadied on rumors of trade buying, covering by recent sellers for a turn and support from local bulls.

Subsequent fluctuations were more or less irregular, with last prices showing declines of from 8 to 10 points, although some selling was promoted late in the day by reports of easier southern spot markets.

Cables from Russia estimated the Asiatic crop of the season at 300,000 bales in excess of last year.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 6.—The cotton market had a downward tendency today on reports for both accounts, but a heavy weather in the belt over Sunday and a seasonally high crop guess from a private bureau, which while it excited no great interest among conservative traders was seized upon by the bearish element as a good excuse for selling. The weaker long interest was liquidated heavily, the decline and bearish comment was that the market was decidedly oversold and in a weak technical position. The private forecast that caused short selling put the crop at 15,750,000 bales minimum. The market opened steady at a decline of 13 to 17 points on poor cables and the favorable market a little later the market again was under heavy selling pressure, much of the selling being encouraged by the large crop estimates mentioned above. By the middle of the morning the decline was widened to 19 to 21 points. Towards noon there was another partial recovery, but in the afternoon the decline was widened to 20 to 23 points. The close was easy at a net loss for the day of 19 to 23 points.

While the weather may be more favorable and the detailed reports noted very little rain in the belt over Sunday, the forecast again promised unsettled weather for the western half of the belt, which gave the market a fairly steady undertone during the greater part of the session.

New York, Oct. 6.—Cotton goods ruled firm and active today. Cotton yards were steady. Some lines of cotton, warp-drawn goods have been sold up and with-drawn for spring. Percales have been advanced to a basis of 7 cents for 4x4 64s.

Grain.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Possibility of Russian, Manchurian and Indian crops. There shipped to the Pacific slope and of Argentina taking steps to compete in Atlantic weight of the United States, formed the weight on the wheat market here today. The close today steady was at 2 1/2 net decline. Other leading staples, too, showed setbacks. Corn 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, oats 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 and provisions a shade to 15 cents.

Russian shipments of wheat to this country under the new tariff bill, it is said, will be of considerable magnitude. Additional sources of weakness in wheat prices were larger world shipments than expected and a huge increase in the visible supply. Liberal hedge sales by Minneapolis caused a decided downward impulse at the outset and so did the fact that the only buyers were shorts who had profits. At no time during the day was there any important rally despite the fact that quotations fell to a new low level for the year.

Belief that a prominent speculative bull was unloading on a large scale made the corn market heavy. Wet weather, however, tended to uphold prices. There was a noticeable widening of the December option. May spread with shorts and investors good buyers on the break. The October contract was liquidated heavily by discouraged holders. A decrease in the visible supply was the only comfort to the bulls.

Bear pressure on hard counted against the provision market as a whole. Grain weakness and a decline at the yards did the rest.

Stocks.

New York, Oct. 6.—Pronounced pressure was applied to the stock market today for a time prices declined rapidly. Professional selling was on a large scale among the favorite stocks. London under the influence of a considerable volume of Russian and Pittsburgh sent in a selling order. Trading was active during the forenoon and leading stocks as well as a large number of the inactive issues were hammered down 1 to 3 points. Pressure was less severe in the latter part of the day and losses were reduced. Steel again bore the brunt of the attack which forced it down 2 points to 58. A cut of $2 a ton in steel plates and steel sheets and expectations of further reduction in steel products promoted the growth of bearish sentiment. Uncertainty as to the effect of the new tariff schedule not only in the steel trade but in other industries was more of a factor now that the law is in operation and had a good deal with the reluctance of the traders to oppose selling.

Money market conditions were unfavorable. The unexpectedly poor bank statement Saturday and the further loss of $2,000,000 to the treasury led to a general tightening of rates. Call money rose to 5 per cent for the first time since April and all quotations were advanced. New Haven's annual report showing a deficit of over $1,500,000 and threats of a strike of engineers and firemen on that road led to selling of the stock.

Railroad stocks in general and St. Paul in particular continued to reflect the depression in net earnings. The annual report of the St. Paul for 1912 showed a deficit of $1,500,000. The annual report of the St. Paul for 1912 showed a deficit of $1,500,000. The annual report of the St. Paul for 1912 showed a deficit of $1,500,000.

Waco Cotton Market.

Receipts in the Waco cotton market today were 1,000 bales, totaling less than a hundred and fifty bales. The market broke a dollar a bale on reports of weather improvement, and the top price for best cotton was 13.75c.

The recent heavy rains have caused considerable talk of cotton sprouting in the bolls, but local cotton men are of the opinion that this will cause no serious damage if the bright weather of yesterday continues. The new growth on which the crop depends has been greatly assisted by the wet weather, and reports from all over Central Texas indicate an increased supply in case frost does appear before the average time, which is the middle of November. In case the present new crop is allowed by weather conditions to mature, it is expected to increase the Texas yield between 250,000 and 500,000 bales.

There was a continuation in the improvement of the spot demand yesterday, and this is expected to rally the market. Another steady influence is the fact that spinners are inclined to buy on the spot.

It is probable that in the immediate future the market will be influenced largely by weather conditions.

Spinners and buyers in McLennan county are uniting in an effort to keep the cotton growers from picking before the cotton is thoroughly dried out. Water left in the staple, they claim, causes rotting to occur in the bale after it is ginned, and heavy deterioration in the grade by the time it reaches the manufacturer. While this may not affect the price at this time, it will ultimately hurt the cotton grower by causing a decline in prices paid by the cotton manufacturer.

Among those who sold cotton in the local market yesterday were:

E. J. Morrow, R. J. Manard, J. Joe Ascher, J. Charles French, W. M. Boyd, M. D. Miller, L. H. Martin, L. Hank Brandon, J. R. Hicks, L. D. Simons, Alford, A. George Miller, E. J. Ascher, R. D. CRUSADE AGAINST VICE PROPOSED

WACO PASTORS' AND MINISTERS' ASSOCIATION IS IN SESSION.

ELECT F. N. CALVIN PRESIDENT

New President and Several Other Members Advocate Declaring War on Vice in This City.

The Waco Pastors and Ministers' Association met in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday morning with Rev. P. S. Groner in the chair. After a prayer offered by Rev. Dr. F. N. Calvin the minutes of the last meeting were read by Rev. A. D. Porter and the election of officers followed.

The election resulted as follows: Rev. F. N. Calvin, president; Rev. W. W. Melton, vice president; Rev. Oscar E. Linstrum, secretary.

President Calvin, the newly elected president, spoke for a few minutes about the work that lies before the association, saying that all members should co-operate to make the Monday sessions of greater benefit to the Waco community than they have been in the past and he suggested that a program committee be appointed to carry out this plan. The plan was adopted by the members and Rev. Groner, Rev. Porter and Rev. Ingram were appointed.

Discuss Anti-Vice Crusade. There was a discussion by the pastors regarding the vice crusade made at Dallas and Austin and how these cities have declared against the legality of segregation. Rev. Pauline spoke about the pastors all standing back of Judge Clifford Rowe of Chicago, who lectures in the Y. M. C. A. November 23, on "The White Slave Traffic."

The following spoke in favor of making an anti-vice crusade in Waco: Rev. A. D. Porter, H. J. Matthews, Calvin and Linstrum. No definite action was taken on this question.

Rev. W. N. Melton announced that Tuesday morning at Baylor auditorium, the Y. M. C. A. made several announcements about the class in the "sym" being organized for ministers and about the need of the pastors' co-operation on Sunday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. meeting, after which the meeting closed with prayer by Rev. F. S. Groner. Rev. F. N. Calvin is the president of the Pastors' Association and Rev. Oscar E. Linstrum is secretary.

WIDER TRANSFER PRIVILEGES

New Order Goes Into Effect on the Trolley Lines To-morrow.

Under an order to become effective Wednesday the Southern Traction Co. will put into practice a rule which promises to be of great benefit to passengers and which will in a great measure facilitate the transportation of passengers in the residence section of the city. This order has been issued by the city and will be in effect on any car the same way and stopping at the same points as the car that the transfer is issued for. City Commissioner J. A. Littlefield has had the matter up with the local management of the company with the result that an agreement has been reached to that effect.

In Effect Tomorrow.

In the past the street car company has had a rule that if a transfer was issued for the Cotton Palace line it was not good for transportation on the belt line, although the two lines run over the same tracks as far as Eighth and Clay streets. Formerly there was an order which did not validate transfers to the Katy depot over any other line except the depot line. This order was modified some time ago and a transfer calling for stoppage at the depot is good over any car running past that station. This order has been further modified so that transfers will be good upon any car passing the point and going in the same direction that the transfer calls for. This new order it is believed will result in more convenience for the public. It becomes effective Wednesday.

"Jephthah's Daughter" at the Rex.

"Jephthah's Daughter" will be the feature film at the Rex theatre today, a masterful presentation of the scriptural tragedy as interpreted by the renowned English stars, Constance Crawley and Arthur Maud. In the preparation of this magnificent film, the scriptural story of Jephthah is carefully followed, and the tragic lives of the children of Israel are presented in a never-to-be-forgotten manner.

Jephthah assumes command of the Israelites, and leads them forth to battle against the invading Ammonites. He makes a vow to Jehovah that if his army shall triumph, that whatever comes forth from the doors of his house, upon his return, shall be offered up as a burning sacrifice. Jephthah's turns victorious, and is met by his daughter whom he must sacrifice in order to fulfill his promise to Jehovah. In the meantime, Jephthah's daughter has attracted the attention of Zebah, a robber chief, who, upon hearing of her plight, carries her off to his mountain camp. Deborah, the hand-maiden of Jephthah's daughter, betrays Zebah and a terrific fight follows in which Zebah is mortally wounded, and his band of robbers routed. Jephthah's daughter draws the dagger of the dying Zebah and, plunging it into her heart, cries: "The sacrifice is complete, oh, Jephthah."

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

PEDDLERS TO FIGHT MANAGERS TO MEET

WILL RESIST ATTEMPT TO RESTRICT THEIR TRAFFIC.

Petition Designed to Ascertain Public Sentiment Gets 1,930 Names in a Day.

The garden truck and fruit peddlers have organized to make a determined fight for the privilege of selling their wares in the streets of Waco. Alarmed at the prospect of municipal legislation that will either put them out of business altogether or seriously interfere with their means of making a living, the street vendors yesterday put in circulation a petition designed to ascertain the sentiment of the citizens on the question of permitting them to continue peddling from door to door.

Copies of the petition were distributed among peddlers and others opposed to any anti-peddler legislation that will interfere with the free sale of vegetables and fruits in the city streets. The petition was presented to housewives and the heads of families in all parts of the city and their signatures were solicited.

1,930 Signatures to Petition.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the number of signatures was counted by W. E. Everett, one of the leaders in the fight for the peddlers. He announced that 1,930 citizens had signed and stated that only a small part of the city had been canvassed. The peddlers declare they will be prepared to show at the proper time that their business tends to reduce the cost of living and they will direct attention to the tendency in eastern cities in recent years to give vegetable peddlers free range in the streets.

Peddlers Victorious in East.

The most recent case in point is the city of New Orleans, where an effort to put the peddlers out of business or to impose a high license tax upon them was inaugurated last spring. The result of the fight was a victory for the peddlers. The city commissioners removed restrictions that were enforced for years against the peddlers and practically threw open all the streets of the city to truck gardeners, hucksters and vendors of all sorts of greenstuffs.

As a further result the business of stall renters in the public market was affected to such an extent that ten of the twenty-seven public market houses have been closed, the stall renters finding it unprofitable to conduct business at their old stands. Many of the business and sought other occupations, while others purchased wagons and went into street peddling.

HOLD GILLET AS DELINQUENT

County Officers File Complaint Charging Collector With Embezzlement.

Investigation into the alleged assault and robbery of Harry Gillett, 16-year-old office boy, employed by C. R. Slaughter, cement contractor, which was supposed to have occurred Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, by police and county officers yesterday resulted in the filing of a complaint by the county officers yesterday against Gillett, charging him with embezzlement and therefore being a delinquent child. Assistant County Attorney Howell L. Taylor filed the complaint on information furnished by city detectives.

Cops Hunt Mythical Mexican.

Gillett's report to the police Saturday afternoon that he had been assaulted, knocked in the head and robbed of $180, and that his assailant was a Mexican, resulted in the assignment of half the police force and also of the county officers to the case. Working on a "description" furnished them by the boy, the officers kept up their hunt all Saturday night and Sunday. Yesterday morning, after following all clues to a reasonable end, and after having arrested some thirty Mexicans, who fitted the description given by the boy, the detectives were at their wits' end. Finally summoning a physician to examine the place which Gillett said the robber had made on his head when he struck him, the slightness of the bruise excited the suspicion of the detectives.

The Cash Recovered.

After being closeted with the detectives some time, Gillett admitted that he had framed the robbery story. Later he led them to where he had secreted $105 of the money. This was turned over to City Detective Sim Sheppard. It was in 44 bills and had been hidden at Gillett's home.

Gillett's case comes under the juvenile law, he being only a few months past 16 years of age.

FRANCHISE TO BE AWARDED TODAY

COMMISSION WILL TAKE FINAL ACTION ON THE NATURAL GAS GRANT.

ALL LEGAL REQUIREMENTS MET

Stough and His Associates Ready to Begin Construction of Pipe Line, It Is Understood.

Franchise will be passed finally by the city commission at the regular meeting this morning granting to George W. Stough, E. A. Wilder and others privilege of using the streets of Waco for the laying and maintenance of pipe lines for furnishing of natural gas to Waco.

All legal requirements have been met, the franchise has passed its second reading and this morning it will be voted into a law. The franchise calls for the piping of gas from the Mexico fields forty miles away. It provides that Stough and his associates will construct a pipe line to Waco, and furnish gas for domestic and manufacturing purposes.

Will Cost $350,000. The franchise was first presented a month ago, when it passed its initial reading. Since that time Mr. Stough has been absent in the east financing the project. It is estimated the pipe line will cost approximately $350,000. The commission believes the franchise is worded in such a manner that it is entirely fair and a good proposition for the city.

Stough Comes Tomorrow. Mr. Stough, it is understood, will reach Waco Wednesday, at which time it is said by his associates that he will be in position to begin planning for work on the line.

Another franchise has been applied for, that of T. P. Smith and associates. It is understood they have not given up hope and that in the event Stough does not fulfill the provisions of his franchise or does not accept the franchise they will ask that a franchise be granted them.

The funeral of J. W. Orand, who died Sunday night at 10:30 o'clock, will be conducted this morning from his residence, 1512 Columbus street, at 10 o'clock. Services will be conducted by Rev. Alonzo Monk Jr. of Hamilton, assisted by Rev. W. B. Andrews of Waco. Burial will be at Oakwood cemetery.

The active pillars of the firm will be Clint Padgett, J. W. Simpson, Charles E. Moore, George V. Rotan, C. A. Sherman and Jordan Hicks. Honorary pall bearers will be Sam Sanger, W. T. Herrick, Tom Padgett, M. A. Cooper, E. A. Wilder, R. F. Grubbs, O. G. Bowman, O. D. Harris, H. B. Spencer, Henry Carver, W. R. Clifton and W. B. Brazelton.

Sketch of His Career.

Mr. Orand, who was born in Woodbury, Tenn., in 1861, came to Waco with his father and mother on March 15, 1873, when he was 11 years of age. His brothers, W. N. Orand, S. W. Orand and D. H. Orand, were already living in Waco. His father died here in December, 1884. At the age of 20, J. W. Orand went to Whitney to take charge of a hardware business, which he continued until 1890. He then went into the name of W. N. Orand & Brother, remaining in Whitney two years. Later W. N. Orand withdrew from the business and J. W. Orand entered into partnership with W. T. Herrick, maintaining four houses in Whitney, Morgan, Walnut Springs and Cleburne.

He Returned to Waco.

He returned to Waco four years ago to assist in the organization of the Herrick Hardware company, of which he was first president at the time of his death.

Mr. Orand was married in 1896 to Miss Georgia Bruton of Comanche. Besides his widow, four children survive him, Mrs. R. O. Walton of Balinger, Bruton, attending school at Leavenworth, and Miss Nellie and Frances Orand of this city. In addition to his brothers above mentioned, he leaves one sister, Mrs. J. C. New of Christian, Tenn.

A Wonderful Business In Our Women's and Misses' Apparel Department and the Reason For It

Did you ever stop to think about it—how busy we are in our Women's and Misses' Apparel Department?—that you seldom visit this section of our store that it is not filled with customers? Whether you have given it a thought or not, there is a reason for this, and a good one. The Sanger Women's Apparel Department shows a larger and more varied stock of Apparel and it caters to everyone's idea of style and price. You can select here an inexpensive Dress or Suit, or you can select the finest garments procurable, or in between, if you like. It makes no difference how much or how little you buy, whether high priced or inexpensive, you receive dollar for dollar value in your purchase, and the small purchaser receives the same careful, thoughtful and painstaking attention as does the customer who buys the more extensive merchandise—a rule that characterizes the Sanger Store as "different" in every one of its departments. We invite your particular attention to the following new Fall Apparel.

OUR POLICY "THE PUBLIC BE PLEASED"

TO PREVENT FIRES

PROCLAMATION DECLARING OCTOBER 9 AS FIRE PREVENTION DAY.

Eighty Per Cent of the Fires Occurring Annually Are Preventable, His Honor Declares.

In response to a statement issued by Acting Governor Mayes, in which the governor requested that the citizens of the towns and cities of Texas join him in calling upon the people to observe Thursday, October 9, as "Fire Prevention Day," Mayor James H. Mackey yesterday issued a proclamation calling upon the citizens of Waco to set aside that day for the purpose of looking to the protection of their homes and property from fire, and pointing out the necessity of such action.

In his proclamation Mayor Mackey calls attention to the fact that the proper observance of October 9 each year as a day upon which to plan against fire ravage has resulted in a large decrease of the waste by fire, and also that the available statistics show that eighty per cent of the fires of the country are preventable. His proclamation also calls upon those in charge of public houses as well as parties to look after their premises with a view to doing away with all surroundings that might afford fuel for fires.

The text of the proclamation.

"Whereas, my attention has been called to the fact that in past years the governors of different states of the Union have designated October 9, which is the anniversary of the great Chicago fire, as 'Fire Prevention Day'; and

"Whereas, the proper observance of this day has resulted in a large decrease of the great economic waste resulting from the destruction of property by fire; and

"Whereas, the available statistics of the country show that perhaps eighty per cent of the fires of the country are preventable, and could be avoided by giving proper inspection of property and attention to the various and sundry kinds of combustible waste material allowed to accumulate on the premises of property owners; and

"Whereas, it is expedient that united action be taken on the part of the entire citizenship of this state to prevent all unnecessary loss of property of every kind of fire.

"Therefore, I, J. H. Mackey, mayor of the city of Waco, Texas, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the 9th day of October, 1913, as 'Fire Prevention Day,' and especially request that all owners of property within this city on that day give personal attention to the inspection of heating appliances, placing them in a safe and proper condition for winter use; that all chimneys, flues and heating apparatus be carefully examined, tutions, schools, hotels, factories and theatres be carefully looked over on that day, and when necessary, any changes made that will further protect the safety of the occupants;

"That our board of public school trustees, our superintendent and the teachers of all public and private schools impress upon the school children under their care the importance of using every precaution to avoid fires, and that those having the responsibility and care of children, especially in public schools, on this day inaugurate fire drills and such instruction as may impress upon those under their care the ordinary fire hazards and the simple methods of fire prevention and rescue work; and that these drills be made a permanent feature of school work, and practiced at frequent intervals throughout the school year;

"That all commercial and civic organizations lend their hearty moral support to this important form of conservation of our resources.

"In testimony whereof I have hereunto signed my name and caused the seal of the city to be affixed hereon at my office in the city of Waco, Texas, this 6th day of October, A. D. 1913.

"J. H. MACKEY.

"Mayor of the City of Waco, Texas.

"Attest: John C. Davis, City Sec."

(Seal)

The proclamation was authorized by the city commission at its last meeting and the city government will join in with the citizens in following the advice of the acting governor and the mayor.

INTERURBAN AS AN UPBUILDER

Crawford Tells Retirees Possibilities of Linking the Adjacent Territory.

W. V. Crawford told the Rotary club yesterday his idea of the importance of the coming of the interurban to Waco.

There was a large attendance at the weekly luncheon at the New State House. A. H. Bell, the president, and C. G. Broad, the secretary, had seats at a round table, and stretching each way from the middle was a long table at which covers were laid for the members. After a roll call in which each member introduced the member on his right and gave some statement of the business in which he is engaged, Mr. Crawford was called on. He is a strong believer in the interurban as a developer, and he impressed his belief on his associates in the club.

Louis Crow made a short talk, and John F. Wright, just elected as a member, was welcomed into the organization and said a few words in response.

"What's the matter with that fellow over there on the corner, who is purple in the face and is waving his arms like a windmill?"

"Oh, that's Hobbs in an argument. He's evidently trying to make somebody take what he considers the common-sense view of a situation,"—Birmingham Age-Herald.
